INTERNSHIP AND NEW GRADUATE / ALUMNI OPPORTUNITY AT RRD

January to April, 2019

Who is RRD?

RR Donnelley (RRD) is a leading global provider of integrated multichannel marketing and business communications solutions. We enable organizations around the world to create, manage, deliver and optimize their multichannel communications. We work with many of the world's leading organizations to help transform the way they engage and interact with their Clients. You probably touch our products almost every day. From digital to print, creative development to fulfillment and logistics, we produce streamlined solutions that enable our Clients to leverage their communications strategy.

What is RRD seeking in YOU?

We are interested in speaking to you if you are:

- A third-year student, New Grad or Alumni from Ryerson University's School of Graphic Communications Management Program,
- Seeking a unique internship/temporary contract opportunity,
- Experienced working in a fast-paced, demanding environment,
- Proven as being a critical thinker and problem solver,
- Skilled in time management, multi-tasking, and organization.

Why should you consider working with RRD?

RRD offers exciting opportunities for students from the Ryerson Graphics Communication Management Program where you can gain real experience and apply your knowledge in a practical way. We want you to try out different aspects of our business. You could work in several areas such as digital marketing, marketing communications, creative services, advanced analytics, business process outsourcing, content management, direct mail, commercial print, in-store marketing, packaging and labels, printed electronics, print management, global distribution, kitting and fulfillment, customer relations, business management, and sales.
