

BMO FINANCIAL GROUP DIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIPS

INFORMATION

The BMO Financial Group's philanthropic investments include a variety of educational initiatives. They are committed to providing programs needed to benefit the broader community. The BMO Financial Group Diversity Scholarships at Ryerson University will provide enhanced access to post-secondary education for traditionally underrepresented groups including women, visible minorities, international students, students with disabilities and aboriginal students.

Value: Up to 15 scholarships in total

Criteria

- Must be from traditionally underrepresented groups including women, visible minorities, international students, students with disabilities and aboriginal students.
- Must be officially enrolled in a four-year full-time undergraduate degree program at Ryerson University.
- Students entering first year (during the 2017-18 academic year) with a minimum average of 80% in 6 U/M credits or equivalent will be considered for a $1,000 or $2,500 scholarship; students must have been full-time secondary school students during the previous 2016-17 academic year. Deadline: October 13, 2017. Scholarships will be deposited directly to students' tuition fees RAMMS account.
- Students enrolled in second or third year (during the 2016-17 academic year) with a minimum 1.67 cumulative grade point average and a clear academic standing will be considered for a $1,000 or $2,500 scholarship. Deadline: March 1, 2018. All scholarships awarded will be deposited directly to students' tuition fees, for the following academic year.
- Demonstrated financial need reflected in the Budget Form submitted.
- Submission of a personal letter (750 words or less) which describes both successes and challenges experienced while pursuing a postsecondary education and the importance of receiving this scholarship.

Deadlines: For students entering first-year: October 13, 2017
For students currently in second or third year: March 1, 2018

REFERENCE SHEET

This reference sheet will provide assistance when preparing your letter.

The Selection Committee is interested in a student's success, community involvement, life goals, as well as challenges or barriers that you have faced.

When preparing the letter (750 words or less) for your scholarship submission please include the following information. The Selection Committee will rank each application based on the following points:

- Is the student from a traditionally underrepresented group including: women, visible minorities, international students, students with disabilities or aboriginal students.
- Has the student demonstrated financial need reflected in the budget form submitted.
- Did the student discuss the value to diversity in our society and at Ryerson University.
- Has the student displayed his/her skills and abilities working with diverse students on campus or within community groups.
- Does the student have goals or plans to improve their own lives and or the lives of others, now and in the future.
- Has the student been involved in leadership activities within the community which promote diversity, equity, access and citizenship.
- Did the student identify his/her own challenges due to ethnic, cultural or linguistical diversity, disability or gender, and how these challenges have been overcome.
