

Call for Expressions of Interest – Externally funded fellowships

Top-quality researchers are invited to submit an expression of interest for externally funded fellowships

The Canada Excellence Research Chair in Migration and Integration at Toronto Metropolitan University (formerly Ryerson University) invites top-quality researchers who are working in the broader area of migration and integration studies to submit an expression of interest for externally funded fellowships to be hosted by the CERC in Migration at Toronto Metropolitan University in Toronto, Canada.

CERC Migration invites application under the following thematic calls:

- Migration and asylum dynamics in the Americas
- Refugee policies in Canada – Comparing governance of the Syria, Afghanistan, and Ukraine refugee responses

Non-thematic applications will also be accepted for review.

Interested applicants please submit an application package via this online application form by 9:00 am EDT May 25, 2024, which includes:

- short CV (2-4 pages)
- short outline of a research proposal (1-2 pages)

Your research proposal must include a clear statement of what you intend to study and show how it fits with one or more of the thematic priority areas of the CERC Migration program. The process is competitive and only a handful of applicants will be retained for further preparing of a submission to one of the schemes outlined below. Shortlisted applicants will be informed by early June 2024.

Please ensure you meet all eligibility requirements for your fellowship of choice.
