

Entry Level Print Production Assistant (Part time or Full Time)

PRX Print is a digital label manufacturer located in Mississauga. We have an excellent opportunity for a upper level (3rd or 4th year) student or recent graduate to work in our production department. This can be a part time position (2-5 days/week) for the right individual, with flex hours if it meets the needs of both the company and the right individual. We offer competitive pay, early Fridays, and a very pleasant work environment. Candidates will be trained on digital label printing presses, finishing equipment and thermal transfer label imprinting equipment, as well as assist in our prepress/packing/warehouse duties as required. This opportunity will offer the candidate variety and fulfillment through applying your knowledge in a print production and graphic design environment.

The ideal candidate will be a student of graphic arts/communications studies or have experience in production of digital print and/or labels in a digital or flexo printing environment. You have proficiency in Adobe Illustrator/Photoshop, a sharp eye for details, are driven to produce to high-quality standards, are reliable and able to lift up to 50lbs and stand for long periods of time, and are a team player to complement our team of amazing employees! Preference will be given to candidates who are current students with consistent free days (2-5) every week to work, or recent graduates from an accredited graphic arts/design/printing degree program. References will be required. This position could become full-time with benefits for the right individual.

We take great pride in producing high-quality, fast turnaround orders for our clients so if have the attributes above and would like to be a great contributor to our team, please send your resume to cgilbert@prxprint.com. NO TELEPHONE CALLS PLEASE.
