Curriculum + Internship

FULL-TIME TWO-YEAR/FIVE-TERM PROGRAM

A unique balance of theoretical and creative practice

CURRICULUM

Students are equipped with a critically informed approach to fashion studies, including familiarity with key theorists and critical debates relating to the fashion system. Appealing to a wide variety of students, this program does not require prior fashion industry knowledge. Students will gain advanced research skills by completing an original written or creative major research project.

PAID OPPORTUNITIES + SCHOLARSHIPS

Apply to work as a Research Assistant or Grad Teaching Assistant. Program funding is awarded to top candidates.

INTERNSHIP

The optional internship course provides students with professional experience in fashion or cultural industries, locally or internationally.

FASHION RESEARCH COLLECTION (FRC)

From gowns by Dior and Balmain, to early beaded moccasins and embroidered silk kimonos, the FRC contains over 3,000 garments, accessories and ephemera dating back to 1820 that are available to support on-site object-based research.

Program offered at FCAD's prestigious School of Fashion
