Address the lack of a qualified workforce in Russia’s efforts to enhance tourism competitiveness

A survey of tourism professionals was conducted to assess importance and performance toward a set of competences

Russian professionals need improved sustainable management, marketing and research skills

Identifies areas for universities to address and focus on in their curriculum reform efforts

Visit htmresearch.ca for more