Hanna Mulak (she/her) is an actor, singer and songwriter from Markham, Ontario. She is excited by the profound three-way conversation that takes place between the writer, the actor and the audience. As a young actor, Hanna is committed to exploring all aspects of that interaction.

While studying acting at The Creative School at X University, Hanna has had the great pleasure of working with many amazing artists, including Cole Lewis, Tim Welham, Marianne McIsaac, Leah Cherniak, Dianna Reiss and Jennifer Wigmore. During her time at the school, she has had the opportunity to portray a variety of challenging roles, such as Nurse in Romeo & Juliet, Claire in Proof by David Auburn, and most recently, Masha in The Gull, a new adaptation of Anton Chekhov's The Seagull, translated and directed by Cole Lewis.

Hanna would like to thank her amazing class of actors who helped her learn how to explore as an actor, and feels grateful to have been a part of such a strong ensemble. She is excited to continue to grow and learn from new people as she takes her first steps into the theatre industry.
