Bio

Josh Palmer is a Toronto-based actor and singer born in Collingwood, Ontario, and a graduate of Toronto Metropolitan University's conservatory acting program.

Josh is a passionate and dedicated actor, who loves performing on stage and on screen. He has experience in, and enthusiasm for, everything from Shakespeare to musical theatre, from American classic dramas to the abstract and avant-garde.

Josh is extremely grateful for all the amazing professionals he's had the privilege to learn from at TMU, including Shakespeare with Tim Welham, motion capture with Ivan Sherry, buffon with Adam Lazarus, and acting courses with Marianne Mclsaac, Cole Lewis, and Laura Nordin.

He loves nothing more than to act, and he hopes that he can convince people to let him.
