The School of Social Work is governed by the mission, policies and requirements of the University as stated in Ryerson University’s Undergraduate Calendar. This manual supplements Ryerson University’s Undergraduate Calendar and Student Guide, and is itself supplemented by the School of Social Work’s Student Handbook.

The timelines listed in this manual are subject to change. For the most current information about important dates, refer to the School of Social Work’s website.

Students are advised to be aware of and abide by Ryerson University’s Academic Integrity policy and Student Code of Non-Academic Conduct. Students should also be aware of and abide by the Code of Ethics of the Canadian Association of Social Workers (2005). Violation of this Code may lead to suspension from the program on grounds of professional unsuitability.

The complete Code of Ethics and Guidelines of Ethical Practice (2005) are available on the Canadian Association of Social Workers website.

Print copies of this manual are available upon request by emailing swfield@ryerson.ca.

Academic Year

The academic year is the period of time when the university holds classes. An academic year begins in September and ends in August. During an academic year, students enrolled in the BSW program at Ryerson University undertake a placement from September to April or May to July/August.

Associate Director, Field Education

The Associate Director, Field Education is a member of the school's faculty who holds academic responsibility for field placements and is available to the school's Field Education Office, faculty, students, and Field Instructors for consultation on issues related to field placements. The Associate Director, Field Education holds the responsibility of interpreting school and Ryerson policies, as well as the CASWE accreditation standards, to all parties involved in the field education component of the social work program. Additional information about roles and responsibilities is available in Appendix A: Responsibilities of All Parties Involved.

Education Coordinator

The Education Coordinator is an employee of an agency/organization who coordinates student placements within the placement setting. Some Education Coordinators assume the role of Field Instructor as well. Not all agencies/organizations have one employee designated as the Education Coordinator to coordinate all student placements; in some agencies/organizations, each Field Instructor is responsible for all aspects of coordinating placements.
Faculty Consultant

The Faculty Consultant is a member of the faculty (full-time or part-time) in the school and provides guidance and support to the student and the Field Instructor regarding the placement design, development and process. The Faculty Consultant is responsible for the assignment of grades for the placement; however, it is expected that the student, Field Instructor and Faculty Consultant will involve themselves in a mutual, ongoing evaluative process which will culminate with the assignment of a pass/fail grade at the end of each term. Additional information about roles and responsibilities is available in Appendix A: Responsibilities of All Parties Involved.

Field Education Coordinator

Field Education Coordinators are a part of the school’s administration and are primarily responsible for all aspects of the placement process as it relates to the matching and placing of BSW students. This includes participating in the outreach and recruitment, as well as assessment and evaluation of placement settings. Field Education Coordinators organize class visits, and individual meetings when requested, with students to help prepare them for field placement. They provide students with individual problem-solving support and accommodation(s) as required. Field Education Coordinators act as a liaison and facilitate relationships with and amongst students, community partners, faculty members, and Ryerson University. Additional information about roles and responsibilities is available in Appendix A: Responsibilities of All Parties Involved.

Field Education Manager

The Field Education Manager is a part of the school’s administration and is responsible for overseeing the overall operations of the Field Education Office to ensure efficiency and effectiveness.

The Field Education Manager is responsible for all aspects of the placement process as it pertains to MSW and Ryerson-FNTI students, although at times this role may be assumed by a Field Education Coordinator. This includes providing students with individual problem-solving support and accommodation(s) as required. The Field Education Manager also takes leadership on the outreach and recruitment of new placement settings for the BSW and MSW programs. In doing so, the Manager acts as a liaison and facilitates relationships with and amongst students, community partners, faculty members, and Ryerson University. Additional information about roles and responsibilities is available in Appendix A: Responsibilities of All Parties Involved.

Field Education Program Administrator

The Field Education Program Administrator is a part of the school’s administration and is responsible for a number of administrative activities relative to the field education component of the social work program at Ryerson University. This includes maintaining a placement system, training and supporting those who use the application, communicating with community partners, and facilitating Field Instructor library access. Additional information about roles and responsibilities is available in Appendix A: Responsibilities of All Parties Involved.

Field Education Credits

There are five field education credits that students must complete as part of their BSW degree program. Three of these credits are offered through on-campus classes and the other two are offered as two-semester field practicums.

The 3rd year and 4th year social work practice courses (SWP 301 and SWP 50A/B) are courses where students learn social work knowledge, skills and values for practice. Students are required to complete both social work practice courses in the BSW program and are required to undertake the co-requisite field practicum while taking these courses. The field education curriculum changed in the school in 2016/2017. Students now take the following field education courses: SWP 201 (in 2nd year), SWP 301 and SWP 36A/B (in 3rd year) and SWP 50A/B and SWP 51A/B (in 4th year).

The field practicum (SWP 36A/B and SWP 51A/B) are experiential learning opportunities offered in the field whereby students demonstrate the relevant knowledge, skills and values based on prior and concurrent courses. While most students complete their field practicum through placements at an agency/organization, a few students may be eligible for other options (e.g., work study placement or challenge exam for SWP 36A/B Field Practicum).

Field Instructor

The Field Instructor is an employee of an agency/organization who has contracted with the school and with the placement setting to provide a learning experience and instruction to a student for a period set out by the school.

As per the Canadian Association for Social Work Education (CASWE), Field Instructors for BSW students usually hold, at a minimum, a BSW degree, have two years of social work practice experience post-graduation, are interested in social work education, and have support from their employer, by way of adequate resources, to assume the responsibilities of providing field instruction.

The Field Instructor guides the daily activities of the student to clarify and meet their learning needs, and provides consultation to the student as required by the school. As well, the Field Instructor engages in a process of evaluation with the student to assess student performance in the context of the school expectations and placement setting requirements. The Field Instructor makes a recommendation to the Faculty Consultant about the student’s final grade in the final evaluation. Additional information about roles and responsibilities is available in Appendix A: Responsibilities of All Parties Involved.
Placement Setting

The placement setting is an agency/organization/program that has contracted with the school to provide an environment where a student will undertake a placement and a Field Instructor who will supervise a student for a period set out by the school. The placement setting assures that the Field Instructor(s) have the time and resources within their work schedule to plan learning opportunities for students, provide adequate supervision, attend workshops on field instruction provided by the school, and complete student learning plans and evaluations.

School

The School of Social Work, through the Associate Director, Field Education, is responsible for all decisions regarding the selection of placement settings and the placing of students in accordance with the curriculum, the student’s learning needs, and the needs of the placement setting.

Student

The student is an individual registered in the Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) degree program at Ryerson University. The Bachelor of Social Work Program has a diverse student body and they enter and complete the program in different ways.

On-campus students are students who complete their degree through attending classes at Ryerson’s campus in Toronto. On-campus students enter the BSW program in either the first, second or third year of the curriculum. Throughout this manual, full-time students refers to students who complete all four years of the curriculum. Full-time advanced standing refers to students who enter into the second year of the curriculum directly from completion of a college diploma. Part-time advanced standing refers to students who enter in the third year of curriculum and come to the program with a previous diploma or degree and a minimum of two year’s work experience in the social services sector.

Off-campus students are students who complete their degree in the First Nations Technical Institute (FNTI)-Ryerson Collaborative Program outside of Toronto.

Additional information about roles and responsibilities is available in Appendix A: Responsibilities of All Parties Involved.

2.1 About

The School of Social Work, located within the Faculty of Community Services of Ryerson University, is widely known and respected for its leadership in progressive education for social work practice.

At the undergraduate level, the school offers an applied four year program of study leading to the Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) degree. A core component of the curriculum is the field practicum in third and fourth years. The program is accredited by the Canadian Association for Social Work Education (CASWE).

2.3 Vision, Mission, Values

Vision

The Ryerson School of Social Work is a leader in critical education, research, and practice with culturally and socially diverse students and communities in the advancement of anti-oppression/anti-racism, anti-Black racism, anti-colonialism/decolonization, Aboriginal reconciliation, feminism, anti-capitalism, queer and trans liberation struggles, issues in disability and Madness, among other social justice struggles. Our vision is to transform social structures into more equitable and inclusive social, economic, political, and cultural processes of society.
Mission

- To prepare graduates for critically engaged social work practice with marginalized populations and communities.
- To develop leadership and innovation in social work education, at the undergraduate and graduate level, through teaching, scholarship, research and community service.

Core Values

- We support the struggles of Indigenous populations, nationally and globally, for Indigenous sovereignty and their collective rights.
- We affirm human dignity and human rights and value equity among all people.
- We are committed to the implementation of social work values in our curriculum and in the delivery of our programs.
- We are committed to learning about communities that foster respect for social diversity, and critical reflexivity in our students and faculty.
- We educate about the intersectionality and interlocking of oppressions and seek to address their causes.
- Our program reflects ongoing attention to the rigor and relevance of our undergraduate and graduate degree programs which prepares our graduates with the requisite knowledge, skills and values to work with marginalized populations in a constantly evolving global context.
- We foster student-centered learning environments that engage and challenge students, and which are responsive to life circumstances and societal forces that create barriers to the student experience.
- We build relationships with communities, expressed in our collaborative community-based research, community service and in educational relationships with field placement settings.
- We stand with communities and populations that experience oppression and marginalization, including poverty, exploitation and domination, and seek to work with all those committed to the advancement of anti-oppression/anti-racism, anti-Black racism, anti-colonialism/decolonization, Aboriginal reconciliation, feminism, anti-capitalism, queer and trans liberation struggles, issues in disability and Madness, among other social justice struggles.
2.4 Accreditation Standards

These standards are foundational to the field education program offered through the school and inform the development of our field education curriculum, the learning objectives of social work students, the types of placement opportunities offered to students, and the teaching expectations of Faculty Consultants and Field Instructors.

Field education is considered a central component of social work education because the integration of knowledge, values and skills in the context of field education is a critical and distinctive aspect of social work education. The purpose of field education is to connect the theoretical/conceptual contributions of the academic setting with the practice setting, enabling the student to acquire practice skills that reflect the learning objectives for students identified in the Standards.

Section 4: Field Education Curriculum

4.1 Field Education Values, Goals and Objectives

Overview

The values, goals and objectives of the field practicum evolve from the school’s vision, mission and core values and from the curriculum standards approved by the Commission on Accreditation of the Canadian Association for Social Work Education (CASWE).

Values

In the field practicum, the student will be required to demonstrate the following values within an anti-oppression framework:

- a commitment to the dignity and worth of people, particularly those socially marginalized;
- a commitment to social change that promotes equity and social justice for all people;
- the inclusion and participation of those most directly affected by social marginalization in social change strategies;
- advocacy for and with people who experience marginalization and/or exclusion in accessing resources;
- a commitment to people and communities as the primary concern;
- confidentiality in the use of information gained through social work practice;
- respect for mutuality in working relationships with people;
- critical self-reflection and personal learning as an attribute of social work practice.

Students will have the opportunity to demonstrate these values while undertaking the field practicum and in relation to the following goals and objectives. The depth to which students are able to demonstrate and engage with these values, goals and objectives is dependent on whether they are fulfilling the SWP 36A/B or SWP 51A/B Field Practicum. The depth is also based on the experience, initiative, and openness to learning each student brings to the placement.

In third year, students are expected to demonstrate an introductory level of capability. In fourth year, students deepen their capabilities in the following areas.

The SWP 36A/B Field Practicum focuses on gaining an introduction to a social service environment, including the client base, structure, staff roles and mandate of the organization. Students can also expect to learn basic social work skills (e.g., basic engagement, active listening, relationship building) through observation, shadowing, intervention and other experiences.

In the SWP 51A/B Field Practicum, students can expect to build upon the skills learned in their previous placement experience(s). Students can also expect to take on greater responsibility in providing services to individuals, families, groups and communities. As this group of students prepare to practice as qualified social workers, one of the dominant tasks in SWP 51A/B Field Practicum is that of developing a professional identity and approach to practice.

Overall, whether a student is fulfilling SWP 36A/B or SWP 51A/B Field Practicum, the most rewarding experiences are those in which students demonstrate the willingness and enthusiasm of a learning and reflective team member and a beginning social work professional.

Students are responsible for demonstrating the following field education goals within their practice:

- Practice Goal 1: Learning about the social context
- Practice Goal 2: Learning about the agency
- Practice Goal 3: Learning about social work practices
- Practice Goal 4: Learning about the self

4.2 Specific Knowledge and Skills Objectives

The student will demonstrate an ability to engage in practice through the following four goals.

Practice Goal 1: Learning about the social context

The student will apply critical understanding of existing social, economic and political forces and their implications for policy and practice from an Indigenous lens. Particular emphasis will be given to issues of diversity, power, privilege, oppression, violence, individualism, globalization, the history of colonization and its current impacts, transformative change, and self-determination/self-governance. Some examples include: social policies impacting on the populations(s) served at the agency; social policies impacting on the agency itself; levels and forms of oppression impacting on those who interact with the agency; external coalitions, networks and advocacy groups with which the agency is connected.

This goal will be operationalized by the following objectives.
Knowledge Objectives:

- Understand different ideological and theoretical perspectives and their views of social problems and social services.
- Critically understand social policy and legislation, including eligibility requirements and procedures, in relation to the placement setting and the impact on the people served.
- Recognize the negative impact (e.g., prejudice, exclusion, violence) of the systemic imbalance of power and of institutions (e.g., heterosexism) that reproduce oppression.
- Recognize the social processes and social relations and their negative impact on people who experience oppression.
- Develop awareness of contradictions, possibilities, and implications of different ideological and theoretical perspectives and approaches.
- Develop knowledge of a transformative change process, including building on resistance.
- Identify and be aware of the role of social movements/advocacy groups/community networks that respond to social policy development relevant to the placement setting.

The student will develop skills which demonstrate:

- The application of tools of systemic analysis to understand the people who experience marginalization/lack of access/exclusion served by the placement setting.
- The ability to connect the personal problems of people who experience marginalization/lack of access/exclusion with structural factors and social processes.
- Share knowledge of resources/benefits which exist under current policies with people who experience marginalization/lack of access/exclusion and assist them in accessing these resources/benefits.
- The capacity to collect information about the general allocation of funds/resources to the program and the people served by the placement setting and to other related programs.
- Develop competence in the use of social policies to benefit/defend people who experience marginalization/lack of access/exclusion.
- Participation in community/grass roots/agency initiatives and strategies that respond to the processes of marginalization and oppression of people.
- Contribute to initiatives stratégies/research that promote social policy change and the well-being of people who experience marginalization/lack of access/exclusion.

Practice Goal 2: Learning about the agency

The student will gain critical understanding of the placement setting’s response to manifestations of colonization and oppression from an anti-colonial, anti-oppression and decolonization frameworks and their implications for a (w)holistic practice. Some examples include: agency history, mission, mandate; organizational structure; perspective on social problems; practice perspective; agency policies/procedures; agency programs/services; roles and responsibilities of those involved with the agency; policies/procedures regarding access, equity, and anti-oppression.

This goal will be operationalized by the following objectives.

Knowledge Objectives:

- Understand the legal mandate, including the mission and history, of the placement setting.
- Understand the governance and accountability (administrative structure, including funding) within the placement setting.
- Understand the placement setting’s view of social problems and the practice perspective(s) to address them.
- Critically understand agency policies, programs, and services and the constraints in which they operate.
- Identify and understand the roles and responsibilities of differential personnel and staff within the setting.
- Critically understand the impact of the practices of the placement setting with reference to access, equity, and the felt needs of people.
- Understand the role of the agency and its constraints in change strategies that address the constraints and structural barriers that impede the well-being of people.
- Understand the placement setting’s policies on safety, health, and harassment prevention.

The student will develop skills which demonstrate:

- The use of self within an anti-oppression framework.
- A capacity to work within the context of the placement setting.
- Competence and responsibility in dealing with documents, files, and communications (telephone, email) of the placement setting.
- Active participation within the setting, including
  - taking risks,
  - giving and receiving feedback,
  - working with/as a member of the team,
  - negotiating power and authority dynamics.
Practice Goal 3: Learning about social work practices

Building on understandings of self, identity/social location, social policy, placement setting, and the purpose of helping/social work, the student will gain and apply knowledge and skills necessary to facilitate personal and collective change processes with people, families and communities experiencing barriers in social living. Some examples include: engaging in various kinds of social work practices such as: assessment; intake; co-facilitation of groups; supportive counselling, program planning; outreach; alliance-building; power-sharing; consciousness-raising; confidentiality; ethics; documentation.

This goal will be operationalized by the following objectives.

Knowledge Objective:

- Define and understand anti-oppression perspectives and how these relate to work with people.
- Critique helping approaches from anti-oppression perspectives, recognizing their implications for social work practice.
- Understand the roles, activities and potentialities of social work within anti-oppression change processes.
- Develop an understanding of communication skills and processes for practice within anti-oppression perspectives.

The student will develop skills which demonstrate:

- Respect and genuineness
- Support
- Tuning-in
- Offering social empathy
- Giving, receiving, and reaching for feedback
- Questioning
- Formulating mutually defined goals
- A shared clarity of the working agreement with others
- Ongoing shared assessments
- Alliance-building
- Emotional, social, and political supports with people who experience marginalization/lack of access/exclusion
- Challenging of others
- Negotiating resources and advocacy
• Linking with resources and social networks, including social movements
• Power-sharing
• Reframing
• Converting personal problems into public issues
• Consciousness-raising about causation of problems and social justice
• Mobilizing
• Developing dialogical relationships
• Disputing of myths
• Confronting
• The promotion of critical self-reflection with people served
• Validating
• Reaching for and working with the strengths of people
• Facilitating change processes
• Shared participation in evaluation processes
• Capacity to work with groups
• Capacity to work with communities
• Competency at beginning research activities
• Participation in policy development

Practice Goal 4: Learning about the self

The student will apply critical self-reflective knowledge about their identity/social location and that of their families and communities, as well as their implications for a (w)holistic practice. Some examples include: social location and its impact on practice; use of self in practice; critical reflection; personal capacities, strengths, areas of growth; recognizing and challenging internalized oppression.

This goal will be operationalized by the following objectives.

Knowledge Objectives:
The student will apply understanding and deepen awareness of:

• Processes of internalized oppression
• Processes of internalized privilege
• Multiple identities of self
• The multiple identities of others, particularly those who experience marginalization, and the impact on self
• Personal capacities, strengths and limitations
• Power differences

The student will develop skills which demonstrate:

• Openness to risk-taking
• Responsibility for personal learning
• Willingness to engage in a change process
• Active participation in the field instruction process
• Negotiation of power differences (e.g., between student and Field Instructor)
• Ability to challenge self

4.3 Curriculum and Pre-Requisite Requirements

For information about the curriculum and pre-requisite requirements for the social work practice course (SWP 201, SWP 301, and SWP 50 A/B) and field practicum (SWP 36A/B and SWP 51A/B), refer to the Student Handbook.

4.4 Eligibility

If an incomplete (INC) or in process (INP) grade in any social work course is not cleared by June 30 at latest of any academic year, a student may not be eligible to proceed into a field practicum (SWP 36A/B or SWP 51A/B) or the social work practice seminar (SWP301/SWP 31A/B or SWP 50A/B) in the next academic year. The placement matching process will cease until all incomplete and/or in process grades have been cleared. This means that a student with incomplete and/or in process grades in social work, which are not cleared by June 30, may have to wait for a year to take a field practicum and co-requisite social work practice seminar.

Students who drop from the field practicum (SWP 36A/B or SWP 51A/B) or the social work practice seminar (SWP 301 or SWP 50A/B) may also have to drop from the other.

Students are responsible for ensuring that their tuition fees are paid on a timely basis. To remain in good financial standing with the university, a student must pay all fees due for the current academic term by the dates posted in the current undergraduate calendar. Students must be enrolled in in SWP 36A/B or SWP 51A/B prior to starting their field placement. Should Ryerson withdraw a student from either SWP 36A/B or SWP 51A/B for not maintaining good financial standing, the student will be prohibited from attending placement until such time they are enrolled again.
4.5 Grades for Field Practicum

Assignment of Grades

The pass/fail grade given for field practicum (SWP 36A/B and SWP 51A/B) is not calculated into the student’s GPA.

A grade for field practicum (SWP 36A/B and SWP 51A/B) will be assigned to the student by the Faculty Consultant, in consultation with the Field Instructor. All field assignments, including learning plan, mid-term and final field practicum evaluations, and any other required assignments must be submitted before a grade assignment will be given.

Failure to meet the minimum requirements of the field practicum as set out in this manual may result in a withdrawal of the student from the field placement in any given term. If a student is asked to withdraw from a placement setting, the school may require that the student postpone their placement until the following academic year. Two consecutive failures in field practicum will result in suspension from the social work program.

Final Grades for Field Practicum

Pass: The student has achieved acceptable performance in the placement for that year.

Fail: The student has not achieved acceptable performance in the placement.

Please note that the final field practicum evaluation contains a third option entitled “repeat term/extend hours” or “extend placement”, which the Field Instructor may recommend in the case of a student requiring further practicum experience, either in the present setting or in another setting. The final grade decision is made by the Faculty Consultant.

Credit for Placement Hours

Students who fail the field practicum (SWP 36A/B or SWP 51A/B) receive no credit for placement hours completed. Students who leave a placement may receive credit for a proportion of placement hours as determined by their Faculty Consultant, in consultation with the Field Instructor and the Associate Director, Field Education, only if it can be determined that the minimal placement requirements have been completed.
4.6 Course Descriptions

Second Year Social Work Practice Class: SWP 201

Description

This course is designed to enhance students' understanding of the interface between theory and practice, to promote the transferability of knowledge and skills. The primary focus of the course is the development of skills essential for a beginning social worker working within a decolonizing and anti-oppression framework. Skill areas include developing self-knowledge, communication for, and orientation to, the field placement experience.

Objectives

- To develop the knowledge and skills for a beginning social worker. More specifically:
  - To recognize the contexts (political, social, economic, legal/legislative, professional) that shape social work practice, locally and globally.
  - To understand the constructed nature of social work through critically examining the function of social work in various sectors, agency settings and institutions.
  - To identify critical skills for anti-oppression practice in different settings and in the context of working with individuals, families, groups, communities and policy settings.
  - To prepare for the complexities of power in sites where social work is practiced, and its relationship to oppression, colonialism and racism.
  - To begin understanding how resistance might occur in different contexts.
  - To engage in critical reflexivity, self-awareness and acknowledging how you might be implicated in acts of microaggression.
  - To understand how identities and intersectionalities shape practice and the experiences of service users and service providers.

Third Year Social Work Practice Class: SWP 301

Description

This course is designed to increase the capacity of students to understand and apply decolonizing anti-oppression principles and approaches to a range of different social work settings. Students will develop analytical and conceptual skills and will deepen their knowledge and understanding of power, colonization, and transformation, as these relate to working within marginalized populations. The integration and application of social work theory and knowledge to practice situations are emphasized.
Objectives

To develop the knowledge and skills for a beginning social worker. More specifically:

- Increasing understanding of anti-oppressive, anti-colonial and anti-racist approaches to practice
- Critical understanding of the contexts (political, social, economic, legal/legislative, professional) that shape social work practice, locally and globally
- Increasing awareness and understanding of colonial practices within various social work contexts and decolonizing approaches that can be used
- Increasing ability to engage in critical reflexivity as this relates to the emerging professional self/identity
- Deeper understanding of identities and intersectionalities and how they shape the experiences and responses of service users and service providers
- Understanding and reflecting on the role of values, ethics and professional responsibilities
- Developing a critical understanding of the relationship between theory and practice
- Understanding and thinking critically about different theoretical and generalist approaches to practice
- Acquiring the ability to facilitate personal and social change processes which may involve work with individuals, groups, families, communities, institutions and social movements

Third Year Field Practicum: SWP 36A/B

Description

This first field practicum provides opportunities for students to have direct contact with service users. Each placement offers the student beginning level experience with an emphasis on understanding social work skills, values and ethics within the community, organizational and policy of context of practice. Most students attend placement two days a week for two semesters; alternate methods of completing this credit may be available to students with extensive prior experience or those undertaking an out-of-country/province placement.

Objectives

- To gain a beginning understanding of the social work field through introduction to community agencies.
- To develop practice skills, such as engagement, assessment, planning, implementation, termination and evaluation skills.
- To prepare a self-evaluating, knowledgeable and reflexive professional social work practitioner.
• To apply a critical understanding of existing social, economic and political forces and their implications for policy and practice within a field practicum setting. Particular emphasis will be given to issues of diversity, power, privilege, oppression, individualism, and transformative change.

• To gain a critical understanding of the practicum setting’s response to manifestations of oppression from an anti-oppression framework and their implications for practice.

• To apply critical self-reflexive knowledge about your social location and its implications for practice.

Fourth Year Advanced Social Work Practice Seminar: SWP 50A/B

Description

This practice theory seminar emphasizes the integration of knowledge of social work practice, research and social policy. Social work practice theories will focus on direct application in work with individuals, families, groups and communities. This course emphasizes ethical considerations of client factors such as ethnicity, gender, race, culture, sexuality, age, etc. and student's personal and professional values in preparation for graduation and the assumption of roles as direct service practitioners in the community.

The seminar will focus on knowledge relevant to social work. Course material will be presented by faculty and students will be encouraged to share their learning experiences with other students in the class. A major focus of the seminar will be on the knowledge and skills appropriate to the fourth year curriculum and the practicum settings. This will include an examination of different theoretical approaches and practice alternatives.

This course focuses on student integration of theories and perspectives of social work practice with the field practicum. The diverse approaches of faculty are reflected in the course to promote the link of theory, research, policy and values to practice.

Objectives

• To demonstrate student critical reflection of self in transformative activities.

• To develop the strategies and capacities of the student as a participant in support and change processes.

• To critically examine the value, knowledge and skill base of anti-oppression, empowerment and transformative-focused social work practice.

• To demonstrate student capacity to contribute to strategies that influence the social, political and organizational contexts of social work practice.

• To critically compare and examine the commonalities and differences among social work practice theories and perspectives.
• To demonstrate the use of theory within practice and, in return, how critical evaluation of practice informs and shapes social work knowledge.
• To enhance the strategic and transformative capacities of students by incorporating research, policy, advocacy and mobilization as inherent elements of social work practice.

Fourth Year Field Practicum: SWP 51A/B

Description
The organization principles for the second practicum include the selection of field placements according to populations or natural groupings in the community (such as children and families, women, people with special needs, senior citizens, and equity groups) and a problem-based learning orientation. Within each population, students will engage in direct intervention and become involved in either a policy or research component. Students are in field placement three days a week for two semesters.

Objectives
• To demonstrate critical reflection in their work with people and transformative change activities.
• To demonstrate strategies and capacity as an active participant in support and change process.
• To conduct self within the value, knowledge and skill base of anti-oppression, empowerment and transformative focused social work practice.
• To implement strategies that influence the social, political and organizational contexts of social work practice.
• To select, articulate and evaluate the social work practice theories and perspectives that inform their practice.
• To demonstrate the use of research, policy, advocacy and mobilization in strategic and transformative change.

4.7 Information Sessions
To prepare students for the field practicum (SWP 36A/B and SWP 51A/B), the Field Education Office communicates information about field education credit options by means of information sessions, workshops, class visits, and email.

Full-time students, in the four-year BSW program, who plan to do their third year field education credit (SWP 36A/B Field Practicum) during the 2020/2021 academic year must attend three workshops or risk not being matched with any placement setting until they have completed each workshop. This may mean delaying their third year field education credit (SWP 36A/B Field Practicum) and social work practice course (SWP 301) by a full academic year.
The following workshops are provided during the academic year prior to the commencement of the third year field education credit (SWP 36A/B Field Practicum).

Workshop 1: Resume Writing for the Field of Social Work

Workshop 2: Preparing for Third Year Placement

Workshop 3: Interview Preparation for the Field of Social Work

Full-time students, in the four year BSW program, who plan to complete their third year field education credit (SWP 36A/B Field Practicum) during the 2020/2021 academic year receive information about exact dates and how to pre-register for these workshops in the Fall of 2019 via their Ryerson email.

Full-time and part-time advanced standing students are not required to attend the above mentioned workshops, however are welcome to attend if they would like. Advanced standing students will receive more information about placement timelines through class visits and email.

5.1 Placement Overview

To begin to develop a professional identity, each full-time student in the third and fourth year of the program is required to complete a field practicum. Full-time and part-time advanced standing students, who enter the program with substantial social service work and/or previous placement experiences, are required to complete a field practicum in the fourth year of their program. Students are placed in social service agencies/organizations to practice and learn the skills of social work under the guidance of experienced, qualified Field Instructors. The field practicum enables students to integrate theory and practice, and develop their practice skills.

The objectives of field practice are to assist students to develop the necessary self-awareness; knowledge of communities, systems and human behaviour; skills; and problem solving capacities to fulfil, upon graduation, the requirements of a social worker. This is presently being done by an integrated approach between Field Instructors in the various placement settings and the social work professors and instructors at Ryerson, recognizing that the Field Instructor plays a vital role in the student’s learning.

The field practicum is designed to be a hands-on learning opportunity for students who are new to the field and/or are looking to develop new skill sets and knowledge. The purpose of field placement is to enhance your knowledge, skills, and practice in the field of social work. As such, the placement opportunities recruited by the Field Education Office relate specifically to the field of social work and/or which allow students to gain social work specific skills, knowledge and values. Please keep in mind that the Field Education Office cannot facilitate students’ career interests that are outside of social work.

Students in the BSW program at Ryerson are trained to be generalist practitioners (i.e., not specialists) who have skills that can apply across a range of sectors. The field practicum credit is therefore designed to allow students to develop this range of transferrable skills relevant to the social work field. In practice, what this means is that whether at a drop-in or a shelter, in the child welfare system or in a school, in a community development setting or a setting focused on policy or research, all students have the opportunity to learn from their placement experiences while meeting the course objectives of the field education credit. Students are therefore expected to accept and pursue the placement match that has been carefully selected for them by their Field Education Coordinator.

Placement Hours

Full-time Third Year Students

Full-time students in the third year of the curriculum are usually in their field placement Tuesday and Thursday of each week from September to mid-April for a total of 336 placement hours in each year.

Students are expected to put in ordinary working hours, (approximately 9 am to 5 pm or 7 placement hours per day, and 14 hours per week, excluding meal breaks) during those days unless otherwise arranged with both the school and the placement setting.

Full-time, Full-time Advanced Standing and Part-time Advanced Standing Fourth Year Students

Full-time, full-time advanced standing and part-time advanced standing students in the fourth year of the curriculum are usually in their field placement Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week from September to mid-April for a total of 504 placement hours in each year.

Students are expected to put in ordinary working hours, (approximately 9 am to 5 pm or 7 placement hours per day, and 21 hours per week, excluding meal breaks) during those days unless otherwise arranged with both the school and the placement setting.

Flexible Hours

Students are responsible for planning ahead to accommodate placement in their lives and be flexible. The school understands that many students are working full-time and have multiple personal responsibilities, in addition to being a student, that make finding time for completing placement hours difficult. Students are informed of the BSW program field placement requirements at the time of being admitted into the program as well as at multiple check-points leading up to the placement(s). As such, it is expected that students will take initiative in the years leading up to completing a placement to figure out how they will incorporate this critical and mandatory course into their other commitments. This may include making prior arrangements with an employer to be away from a paid position, planning for any financial impacts that may be incurred, creating alternative options for childcare or caretaking responsibilities, taking a specific course at an earlier or later time, etc.

The Field Education Office is not able to guarantee students that field placements will be available during the flexible time frames (e.g., evening and weekend hours) that students would prefer, as this is solely dependent on field placement settings. There are a limited amount of placement settings that offer flexible placement days and hours, and these can change from year to year. These few placements generally are within settings that provide 24-hour a day services, such as shelters and distress phone lines. Students can let the Field Education Coordinator know if they would like to be considered for a placement with flexible hours at the time of applying for a placement through PlacePro. However, students must be aware that the Field Education Office cannot guarantee such placement opportunities will be available. If students are not available for placement during the time frames provided by current placement settings, they need to be prepared to delay completing their field practicum credits until they can be available at times that fit with the regular hours of field placements.

All students must be available at least one-half day per week during a time when their Field Instructor is also on site and therefore can directly supervise their work and engage in weekly supervision discussions. Ideally, students spend at least one-half day per week during regular agency hours (e.g., 9 am to 1 pm or 1 pm to 5 pm) in order to allow them to participate in some of the activities of the setting that only occur during those times. Placements that cannot offer a Field Instructor to be available to a student for at least one-half day per week during regular business hours will not be approved by the school.

Record of Placement Hours Completed

It is the joint responsibility of the student and the Field Instructor to keep a record of completed placement hours. The particular method of record keeping is to be decided by mutual agreement between the student and the Field Instructor in consultation with the Faculty Consultant. The Faculty Consultant may request time records at any point during the placement experience but a record of hours must be submitted at the time of the mid-term and final evaluations.

Placement Timelines

With the exception of those who are approved to do an out-of-country/province or block placement during the Spring/Summer term, students cannot begin a field education credit (SWP 36A/B or SWP 51A/B Field Practicum) prior to beginning the co-requisite social work practice course (SWP 301 or SWP 50A/B). Students must complete the social work practice course at the same time as they complete the field practicum (SWP 36A/B or SWP 51 A/B). Only rare exceptions are made to this co-requisite requirement, through the Associate Director, Field Education.

Students are not expected to be in placement during Ryerson’s undergraduate examination periods (two weeks) in December and April. Students are also not required to be in placement during the study weeks in October and February. If however, students want to make up placement hours during these times, they are able to if agreed to by the Field Instructor and Faculty Consultant.
During Ryerson University’s mid-year break (i.e., the period between the end of first term exams and the start of the second term in January), students are expected to put in a minimum of one week’s worth of placement hours (i.e., 14 hours for third year and 21 hours for fourth year). These hours are to be arranged prior to the start of the Fall term undergraduate examination period and are to be mutually agreed upon by both the student and the Field Instructor. The student is responsible for communicating their arrangements to their Faculty Consultant in advance.

Students cannot end the placement more than one week early without the permission of their Faculty Consultant, regardless of hours accrued. Placement time cannot be extended without prior permission of the Faculty Consultant.

5.2 Field Education Credit Options

Listed below are the options that students can apply for in order to complete their field education credit.

- Regular placement
- Out-of-country/province placement
- Spring/Summer block placement
- Work study placement

5.4 Regular Placement

Application Process

Students begin the process of applying to do a regular placement the year prior to the academic year when they would like to undertake this field education credit option.

NOTE:

- Students who wish to complete a regular placement during the 2020/2021 academic year must start their placement process during Fall 2019.
- The deadline for indicating intention to complete a regular placement during the 2019/2020 academic year has passed.

5.5 Out-of-Country/Province Placement

Out-of-country/province placements are designed for students who are interested and able to do their placement out of the country or province. This is a concentrated field placement for four or five days per week or between 28 and 35 placement hours per week from May to July/August.

Rationale and Objectives

The school is committed to developing relationships with organizations outside of Canada (or in some cases, outside of Ontario but within Canada) for the purposes of exchanging knowledge, resources and pedagogy. In this context, the school looks to develop long-lasting partnerships with organizations that will be able to offer safe and supportive learning environments to our students. Out-of-country/province placements for students, therefore, take place in this spirit of ongoing collaboration across borders. Out-of-country/province placements are designed to provide students with access to social work learning experiences in practice contexts outside Canada or the province, to prepare them for practice in a globalized world.

Due to the realities of forming enduring cross-border partnerships (e.g., developing legal agreements, assessing safety for students, ensuring setting’s fit with the school’s curriculum), the out-of-country/province placement process involves offering interested and approved students the opportunity to select from among a limited range of placement options where the school has existing relationships.
Eligibility Criteria

1. All students are eligible to do an out-of-country/province placement in the same academic year in which they complete their social work practice seminar (SWP 301 or SWP 50A/B).

2. All students intending to do an out-of-country placement must complete the SWP 928 International Social Work elective prior to the start of their out-of-country placement.

3. Students approved to do an out-of-country/province placement must be available to attend a minimum of two mandatory seminars held by Ryerson International.

NOTE:

- All out-of-country/province placements are conditional on availability of a suitable placement setting and at the discretion of the school’s Field Education Office.

- Students doing an out-of-country/province placement are required to complete the same number of hours as specified within the curriculum (i.e., 336 hours for SWP 36A/B Field Practicum and 504 hours for SWP 51A/B Field Practicum).

- All policies relating to field placements apply to out-of-country/province placements.

Application Process

Students begin the process of applying to do an out-of-country/province placement the year prior to the academic year when they would like to undertake this field education credit option.

NOTE:

- Students who wish to complete an out-of-country/province placement during the 2020/2021 academic year must start their application process during Fall 2019.

- The deadline for applying to do an out-of-country/province placement during the 2019/2020 academic year has passed.

5.6 Spring/Summer Block Placement

Spring/Summer block placements are designed for students employed full-time in a social service position in the social service sector, during the time of completion of the social work practice seminar (SWP 301 or SWP 50A/B), and are taking a leave from their employment in order to complete the placement during the Spring/Summer months.

This is a concentrated field placement for four or five days per week or between 28 and 35 placement hours per week from May to July/August. The maximum amount of hours a week that can be completed in a block format is 35 hours.

Eligibility Criteria

1. Students must be employed full-time in a social service position in the social service sector during the time of completion of the social work practice seminar (SWP 301 or SWP 50A/B).

2. All Spring/Summer block placements are conditional on availability of a suitable placement setting and at the discretion of the school’s Field Education Office.

3. Students doing a Spring/Summer block placement are required to complete the same number of hours as specified within the curriculum (i.e., 336 hours for SWP 36A/B Field Practicum and 504 hours for SWP 51A/B Field Practicum). Spring/Summer block placement settings are selected using the same criteria as Fall/Winter placement settings and are arranged by the school’s Field Education Office.

4. All policies relating to field placements apply to Spring/Summer block placements.

Application Process

Students begin the process of applying to do a Spring/Summer block placement the year prior to the academic year when they would like to undertake this field education credit option.

NOTE:

- Students who wish to complete a Spring/Summer block placement during the 2020/2021 academic year must start their application process during the 2019/2020 academic year.
- The deadline for applying to do a Spring/Summer block placement during the 2019/2020 academic year has passed.

5.7 Work Study Placement

A work study placement offers students the opportunity to do a placement at the organization where they are already employed. Given the Accreditation Standards of the Canadian Association for Social Work Education (CASWE) and the school's aim to promote quality social work education, the work study placement will only be approved when it clearly meets the stated Accreditation Standards and enhances the previous practice experience of the student.

Any proposed work study placement must clearly specify new and challenging learning opportunities within the context of the school's mission and the curriculum objectives of the SWP 36A/B or SWP 51A/B Field Practicum. Given the learning/educational focus of the placement, students may not extend their assigned work activities for purposes of the work study placement. Students must complete the required hours as established by the curriculum in an area significantly different from their employment.

Eligibility Criteria

1. A work study placement is restricted to students currently employed within the social service sector. Students need to have been with their current employer for a minimum of one year.
2. Students shall, in conjunction with the school and their employer, design a placement experience that meets the academic objectives of the placement for the student’s year of study.
3. The school will determine the appropriateness of the work study in the context of curriculum objectives and the mission of the school.
4. The placement must be carried out in an area of work that is clearly different and distinct from the usual tasks required of the student by the workplace.
5. The hours of placement are not part of the regular work hours, but hours which the employer has agreed to release for field placement purposes. Field placement hours cannot be compensated by the employer monetarily.
6. Field instruction must be carried out by someone who is not responsible for the day to day administrative supervision or clinical supervision of the student in the workplace.
7. Only one placement may be completed by means of a work study during the course of the degree program.
8. The usual requirements of a field placement will apply to the work study placement.

IMPORTANT:

- Students who are found doing usual tasks that are part of their paid job duties will be removed from the work study placement and risk postponing placement until the next academic year.
Application Process

Students begin the process of applying to do a work study placement the year prior to the academic year when they would like to undertake this field education credit option.

NOTE:

- Students who wish to complete a work study placement during the 2020/2021 academic year must start their application process during Fall 2019.
- The deadline for applying to do a work study placement during the Fall 2019/Winter 2020 term has passed.
- The deadline for students approved in 2019/2020 to submit a work study proposal for the Spring/Summer 2020 term is Friday, January 31, 2020.

5.8 Challenge Credit for SWP 36A/B Field Practicum

The School of Social Work provides a social work education that meets the accreditation standards of the Canadian Association for Social Work Education. Academic instruction and closely supervised field experiences are combined to ensure that students acquire the values, knowledge and skills necessary for BSW level practice. However, the school recognizes that these components to practice have been, in some instances, acquired outside the traditional educational system, through work experience in the social service field.

The school supports those students who are qualified, and can demonstrate an acceptable level of knowledge and skill, by allowing them to challenge certain social work courses. One of those courses is the third year placement (SWP 36A/B Field Practicum).

Students with advanced standing status, on-campus and off-campus, are not eligible for challenge credits. Such students may not challenge any courses as they need to complete at least 50% of the curriculum at the university in order to be awarded a Ryerson degree.

Eligibility Criteria for Challenge Exam

To qualify to pursue the challenge exam, a student must:

- be admitted to the School of Social Work;
- be enrolled in the SWP 301 Social Work Practice Course at the time of the challenge exam;
- have successfully completed all second year social work courses and be in good academic standing at the time of the challenge exam;
- have three consecutive years of paid social work experience in either public or private social services within the past eight years;
- not have already received transfer credits for SWP 36A/B Field Practicum;
- submit the required documents specified in below under Application Process.

NOTE:

- Students with advanced standing status are not eligible for challenge credits.
- Fourth year SWP 51A/B Field Practicum cannot be challenged.
- Failure to meet any specified dates disqualifies students from applying to challenge SWP 36A/B Field Practicum.

Objective of Challenge Exam

- To maintain the standards of BSW education for which the school is distinguished, evaluation methods have been devised to assure that challenge students possess the values, knowledge, and skills expected at the exit level of the course as it is commonly taught.

- To assist qualified students to undertake an academic program that recognizes their individual circumstances. The courses offered for challenge are those which the school believes could reflect the individual experiences of the students.

Challenge credit decisions are not subject to appeal. Potential challenge candidates should refer to the Undergraduate Calendars for the University’s Challenge Policy and for information regarding administrative costs.

Challenge Exam Evaluation Criteria

The challenge exam consists of a written exam and oral exam, including a demonstration of practice skills involving an interview with a simulated client or client group. The challenge exam is reviewed by the Challenge Exam Committee, which consists of the Associate Director, Field Education, the Field Education Manager, and a minimum of one faculty member.

Students are required, through all parts of the challenge exam, to demonstrate evidence of:

- an understanding of their role and purpose;
- an ability to address issues of authority;
- an ability to demonstrate understanding and empathy of needs, concerns and issues of population in the agency/organization where they work;
- an ability to gather information for assessment purposes and develop a plan of action;
- an awareness of professional values and ethics in their practice;
- an ability to apply theory to practice.

Application Process

Students begin the process of applying to challenge SWP 36A/B Field Practicum the year prior to the academic year when they would like to undertake this field education credit option.

NOTE:

- Students who wish to complete the third year field education credit through the challenge exam during the 2020/2021 academic year must start their application process during Fall 2019.
- The deadline for applying to pursue a challenge credit during the 2019/2020 academic year has passed.

6.1 Scope of the Field Education Office

The Field Education Office works closely with hundreds of community partners across the Greater Toronto Area and approximately 450 students in the BSW degree program every year. The placement process is a thoughtful and extensive one involving a number of endeavours to ensure a successful match between students and placement opportunities available. The matching process undertaken by Field Education Coordinators is greatly influenced by a multitude of factors, including the availability of opportunities offered through our partners and student readiness to apply and successfully interview for the placements with which they are matched.

Many of our community partners in the social services sector are stretched for resources; be that in funding, human resources, space or time. As they experience challenges and changes in their organizations, their ability to offer placements to social work students is consequently affected. Thus, the diversity, quantity, and quality of placements the Field Education Office is able to offer to students at any given time is greatly dependent on an array of factors that are impacting our partners in the field.

Successful completion of SWP 36A/B Field Practicum (third year) and SWP 51A/B Field Practicum (fourth year) are requirements of the Bachelor of Social Work degree program. While the Field Education Office supports each student to pursue the field placement credits required for their degree, due to factors mentioned above, the office cannot guarantee that each student will secure a placement in any given year. Rather, the office will work with each student to ensure that they are given the opportunity to apply and interview for a placement in their respective years of study. It is the responsibility of each student who is seeking a placement to ensure they follow the placement processes and protocols, to be accepting of the opportunities they are matched with, and to secure their placements through successfully interviewing with agencies/organizations.
If it becomes apparent, in the placement process, that a student is encountering difficulties in being able to successfully interview for a placement after multiple attempts, the Field Education Office may make a referral for the student to access on-campus supports. In cases such as these, the Field Education Office may refrain from re-matching a student with any further placement until the student has demonstrated that they have taken the necessary steps to be successful in attaining a placement.

Although it is most preferred that regular local placements commence in September and end in April, the Field Education Office is unable to guarantee students' placement start and end dates. Depending on when in the academic year the student is successful in securing a placement, there is the possibility that placements will extend into the spring or summer months.

6.2 Parties Involved in the Placement Process

The Field Education Office engages with students and Field Instructors/Education Coordinators in coordinating all the activities that are required prior to having a placement commence. Once confirmed, it is then a Faculty Consultant who engages with students and their Field Instructors throughout the duration of the placement experience. Generally speaking, Field Education Coordinators are not involved in placement related matters and do not work with students and Field Instructors until it is time to make arrangements for the following year’s placement. Only in certain circumstances, such as when a placement is terminated early, is the Field Education Office re-engaged in any particular placement related matter.
6.3 Matching and Placement Process

The following diagram shows the placement process involved for regular placements.

STEP 1:
Student enters information in PlacePro.

STEP 2:
Field Education Coordinator reviews information entered by student in PlacePro, looks into available opportunities, and sends student information about match.

STEP 3:
Student reviews match within three business days and lets the Field Education Coordinator know if would like opportunity to interview. If student is interested, process moves to STEP 4. If student is not interested, process starts over again with STEP 2.

STEP 4:
Field Education Coordinator provides student information to contact the placement setting.

STEP 5:
Student contacts placement setting, sends cover letter and resume, and arranges interview.

STEP 6:
Student interviews for placement.

STEP 7:
Student informs Field Education Coordinator of outcome interview. If successful, process moves to STEP 8. If unsuccessful, process starts over again with STEP 2.

STEP 8:
Field Education Coordinator confirms placement.
NOTE:

Please note that sections 6.4 to 6.9 outlined below are specific to students who are completing their field education credits through a regular placement or out-of-country/province in the Fall/Winter or Spring/Summer. This process does not apply to students who are completing field education credits through a work study placement or challenge exam.

6.4 Matching Approach

For all students pursuing regular placement options, the Field Education Coordinators carefully explore each student’s stated preferences for a placement, as well as each placement setting’s request and requirements for BSW students. Comparing the student information with the placement opportunity information, the Field Education Coordinators select the best “match” for each student.

Except in unusual circumstances, students can expect to be matched with a placement opportunity that meets at least one of their preferences as stated in PlacePro (for example, this could include a category preference, a population group preference, a geographical location preference, or something else). The Field Education Coordinators aim to match each student with one of their category preferences, but this may not be possible for every student.

6.5 Matching Policy

The Field Education Office has implemented a policy and set of parameters around the placement matching process to ensure that: the work of matching students with placement opportunities is continuously progressing; students are being treated equitably; and we are upholding our commitments with all of our community partners and stakeholders.

When a Field Education Coordinator/Manager sends a student a placement match, they should be assured that it is the best fitting match available at that time, based on the student’s preselected preferences, level of experience, learning goals for that year of study, and the requirements(s) of the setting. Students will generally be matched with one placement opportunity at a time and are encouraged to thoroughly consider and research their first match, as a second option will not be readily available and is not guaranteed to be a better fit to preferences. Due to the size of the BSW program, the Field Education Office is not able to recruit the vast number of placements that would allow for students to receive multiple matches. Students should also note that they will not be permitted to complete a third and fourth year placement within the same setting.

If a student believes that the first placement match they receive is not a reasonably appropriate fit with their pre-stated preferences, individual learning goals and/or current circumstances, they are encouraged to have a conversation with the Field Education Coordinator they are working with in order to discuss their placement process in more detail.

Declining a placement match must only be done when absolutely necessary, as it presents challenges that must be well considered. It is important to appreciate this decision carries impacts beyond the student, affecting the relationships the School, Faculty, and the Field Education Office have with field partners. Declining an appropriate placement match may hamper consideration of placements for future students and the general availability of placements in the current pool. Additionally, in the current context of changes in the field, there is greater competition for placements.

Students will be asked to provide reasons to the Field Education Office if they decline a match, and may be asked to meet and discuss the matter further. Students who decline a match can reasonably expect that this will delay their placement process, and may delay the start of their placement. An alternative placement match is subject to the availability of placement opportunities; if no suitable alternatives are available, the student can reasonably expect that they may be required to defer their placement process until a later term, and possibly the next academic year.

If it becomes apparent that a student is engaging in the following activities within the matching process, the Field Education Office may remove them from their current placement process and put the matching process on hold for up to one full academic year.

- Turning down appropriate placement matches without first having a conversation with their Field Education Coordinator;
- Not responding to email notices within three (3) business days of receiving potential placement matches;
- Repeatedly missing deadlines or not following through on timelines;
- Contacting an agency/organization about a placement without first consulting the Field Education Coordinator/Manager.

NOTE:

If a student’s placement process is put on hold, they risk no longer being eligible to register for the field practicum (SWEP 36A/B or SWP 51A/B), and co-requisite social work practice course (SWEP 301 or SWP 50A/B), and risk delaying their BSW graduation by a minimum of one full academic year.

While the Field Education Office makes every effort to secure placement opportunities for BSW students by doing continuous outreach to field partners, the availability of placements is sometimes beyond the control of the field office. Various factors affect the availability of placements, including funding cuts, re-organization, and staffing levels. It is ultimately field partners that determine their capacity to take students, what flexible hours they may have to offer, what accommodations they can reasonably make to support a student’s learning, and when they can respond to inquiries from the Field Education Office.

Outreach inquiries to potential field partners are made early on to assist Field Education Coordinators in placing students in a timely way. However, there are occasions where delays are experienced, resulting in students not securing placements by the scheduled start date. Reasons for such delays include but are not limited to: the unavailability of a placement opportunity that aligns with a student’s specific preferences; a student declining [an] appropriate placement match[es]; students engaging with the Field Education Office late in the placement process; and students not meeting the Field Education Office’s expectations in the process to secure a placement, (i.e. failure to complete the BSW pre-placement workshop series, not having an approved resume, and not submitting information to the Field Education Office within the timelines requested). In cases where the timely completion of required placement hours is no longer possible, the Field Education Office reserves the right to place the student’s placement process on hold, requiring the student to defer their placement until a later term and possibly the next academic year.

6.6 Being an Active and Engaged Participant in the Placement Process

The process of arranging the field placement is an important collaboration between the student and the Field Education Office; and students are regarded as active participants in the placement process. As such, students are encouraged to research sectors and organizations of interest to become more familiar with the field and trends. Similarly, the school recognizes that professional networking is an important skill. Therefore, if a student learns of a potential placement opportunity through networks, volunteering, employment or other means, they may make a request with their Field Education Coordinator. Students who are interested in a particular agency/organization are also given the opportunity to note their interest when submitting their request to do a placement in PlacePro.

However, while the Field Education Office supports student responsibility and engagement in the placement process, the Office has a significant and crucial role in developing and assessing placement opportunities to ensure they meet CASWE accreditation standards and the University’s experiential learning requirements. Because of this, students must consult with their Coordinator to receive permission to reach out to agencies prior to doing so. The Field Education Coordinators are the single point of access for our field partners when securing and developing agreements with the respective agencies, and a student’s interactions with an agency must not interfere with the processes and procedures of the Field Education Office. Upon being given permission by the Coordinator to contact an agency, the student may be encouraged to do a “soft inquiry” with the agency to determine whether they are able to offer a placement opportunity and the time frame in which they are able to do so. Students are not permitted to apply for a placement at this stage, but are simply inquiring as to whether the agency has the capacity to offer a placement opportunity. Students can then share information regarding viable opportunities, including contact information for the individual at the particular placement agency, with whom the Field Education Coordinator may connect to further explore the potential opportunity.

6.7 When a Field Placement Is Confirmed

Except for rare circumstances, students are not permitted to decline a placement after they have accepted it. Much work goes into facilitating the placement process for each individual student, both on the part of the Field Education Office and on the part of the agency/organization offering the learning opportunity. To decline a placement after agreeing to undertake it has implications that may at first not be apparent. Moreover, in agreeing to take on a particular placement, the student has made a professional learning commitment that may have negative implications for their professional reputation post-graduation.

6.8 Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

Students registered with the Academic Accommodation Support at Ryerson University are encouraged to inform their Field Education Coordinator as early as possible (i.e., when they first submit their request to do a placement) if they require any accommodation with regard to their placement. Students registered with Academic Accommodation Support who have particular needs around placement are encouraged to discuss them with their Field Education Coordinator early in the placement process and are welcome to bring their academic accommodation support staff to attend the discussion.

6.9 Professional Conduct

Civility

Students pursuing a field placement understand that throughout the duration of that process, they are engaged in demonstrating their professionalism. From communicating placement preferences to the Field Education Office to practicing their skills in a field placement setting, students are expected to conduct themselves in a professional, open-minded and respectful manner with all stakeholders. This means that all communications with the members of the Field Education Office and community partners (email, phone, face-to-face) is mindful of the audience in terms of tone, grammar, and attitude. Specifically, in interactions with placement settings, students should be aware that they are making an impression as a professional in what they say and do. An approach of respectful formality, flexibility and enthusiasm goes a long way in making a favourable impression. Similarly, students’ approach towards members of the Field Education Office is expected to reflect values of civility and collegiality.

Confidentiality

All materials produced by the student for educational purposes (e.g., audio or video recordings, process recording, assessments or other written reports) remain the property of the placement setting and can only be removed from those premises with the permission of the Field Instructor. Material shared with the Faculty Consultant or in class should protect the confidentiality of the client. Students should ensure that placement setting guidelines and procedures are followed to ensure confidentiality.

Conflict of Interest

The Social Work Code of Ethics is very clear about disclosing conflict of interest in the practice of social work. Students will not be placed with agencies/organization or Field Instructors where the school believes there could be a conflict of interest. Some examples of conflict of interest are provided below:

- student is related to, or has been a client of the Field Instructor or other placement setting staff;
- student is presently or will be employed by the placement setting concurrent with the placement, (except in the case of a work study placement).

Students are encouraged and given opportunities to disclose potential conflicts of interest. Students who fail to disclose such relationships will, in most cases, be removed from their placement and may face disciplinary action for failing to adhere to the Social Work Code of Ethics.

Confronting Microaggression

The School of Social Work mission advances anti-oppression/anti-racism, anti-Black racism, anti-colonialism/decolonizing, Aboriginal reconciliation, feminism, anti-capitalism, queer and trans liberation struggles, issues in disability and madness, among other social justice struggles.

We recognize that microaggression will be addressed in the classroom, in the school, in field placements and in other settings connected to the work of our school. Microaggression refers to the subtle, covert, and often unconscious acts of racism, classism, sexism, ableism, sanism, and/or heterosexism etc. and includes verbal insults but also non-verbal behaviour such as body language (e.g., avoidant behaviour, glances, rolling of eyes, who speaks, who does not speak). Although individuals will express and experience microaggression on an individual level, these acts are not viewed as isolated instances that are subjectively named. Rather, microaggression will be taken up as an articulation of power that simultaneously operates at the structural, institutional, and individuals levels. As a community of people connected to the School of Social Work we agree that we will address microaggression as it occurs and discuss how we might be implicated in acts of microaggression, as well as how we can work together to interrupt and resist them.

6.10 Communicating with the Field Education Office

The processes and protocols outlined in this manual and those communicated by other means (i.e., Ryerson email, Desire2Learn, School of Social Work’s website, etc.) are established to manage the Field Education Office’s endeavours to place all students expeditiously.

Ryerson University requires that all students activate and maintain a Ryerson University central email account. This email account is the official means by which students receive university communications. Students are expected to monitor and retrieve messages and information issued to them by the university via Ryerson online systems (e.g., email and Desire2Learn) on a frequent and consistent basis. Students also have the responsibility to recognize that certain communications may be time-critical.
All communications between on-campus BSW students and the Field Education Office will be through each student’s Ryerson email account. Students are expected to respond to emails within particular time periods (i.e., within three business days of receiving a potential placement match). As such, it is important that students check their Ryerson email daily.

Students will not be contacted by telephone or other means if attempts to reach them through their Ryerson email account fail (e.g., because mailbox is over capacity). Students are expected to follow-up with the Field Education Office if they have not received any correspondence by email for an extended period of time.

Other kinds of communications from the Field Education Office also go through students’ Ryerson email account (e.g., information about placement start date and other important placement issues). As such, students are required to continue to check their Ryerson email frequently during the summer months, even after securing a placement.

Students have the right to forward their Ryerson email account to another electronic mail service provider address but remain responsible for ensuring that all university electronic message communication sent to their official Ryerson email account is received and read.

As any official or formal electronic communications from students must be sent through their official Ryerson email account, students should only contact Field Instructors and/or other organizational staff through this email. Students are responsible for contacting Ryerson’s Computing and Communication Services (CCS) at if they experience problems with their Ryerson email account.
Section 7: Field Consultation Visits

- Purpose
- Field Instructor and Student Preparation Prior to Field Consultation Visit

Faculty Consultants see their role as a collegial one through the mutual sharing of expertise and feedback. Faculty Consultants will arrange a visit to the placement setting to meet with Field Instructors and students. Field Instructors and students may request a field consultation at any time during the placement. Students may be asked to assist in arranging a time for the field consultation. In rare circumstances, consultations may occur by telephone.

7.1 Purpose

The field consultation visit serves some or all of the following purposes:

- To review the student learning that has taken place and set goals for future learning.
- To review the placement and its relevance to social work education and the school’s curriculum.
- To share concerns and resolve issues and questions on the part of the Faculty Consultant, Field Instructor and the student.
- To evaluate student progress.
- To facilitate the instruction process and demonstrate methods of effective teaching, confrontation, problem solving, goal setting, etc.

Visits usually take 1 to 2 hours to complete. At times, field consultation may occur in a group with other Field Instructors and students.

7.2 Field Instructor and Student Preparation Prior to Field Consultation Visit

Prior to the visit occurring, the student and Field Instructor should discuss with each other areas of concern or interest that need to be shared with the Faculty Consultant.

The following areas may be explored during the consultation:

- knowledge of the placement setting mandate and activities;
- student strengths and weaknesses;
- knowledge of their role and responsibilities in the placement setting;
- ability to identify the learning that has taken place;
• knowledge specific to the placement and practice class;
• understanding of linkages between the placement setting, the community and the population served;
• integration of theory with practice;
• effective use of self;
• appreciation of ethical issues related to placement;
• effective use of field instruction methods;
• review of their learning plan and future learning needs;
• career goals and future learning needs.

Also, this is an opportunity to discuss the structure and activities of the placement setting to assess:

• appropriateness to year within the curriculum;
• appropriateness to student learning needs;
• necessary changes to structure and activities;
• Field Instructor/student relationship;
• field instruction format and techniques;
• consultation.
Section 8: Conflict Resolution

• Guidelines for Conflict Resolution in Fields Placements
• Terminating a Field Placement

8.1 Guidelines for Conflict Resolution in Field Placements

At certain times in the course of the field placement, difficulties or concerns may arise with respect to the learning experience or the field instruction process.

At the earliest possible time, the Field Instructor, the student, and the Faculty Consultant have a responsibility to identify and deal with problems, concerns, or potential problems.

• The first stage in the process of problem resolution is the sharing of the concern by the student or Field Instructor with each other. When mutual resolution is difficult or either the student or the Field Instructor needs assistance or guidance addressing an issue, the Faculty Consultant should be contacted. Any party may request a meeting of two or three of the involved individuals, for example, a student may request a meeting with the Field Instructor, the Faculty Consultant, or both.

• The goal of the meeting is to resolve the problem or concern if at all possible through a mutually agreed upon plan of action. The plan may include amendments to the learning plan, specific agreement concerning time lines to be met and/or criteria for evaluation of agreed upon actions.

• In the event that a problem or concern cannot be mutually resolved by the student, Field Instructor and Faculty Consultant, the Associate Director, Field Education is available for consultation.

• The Associate Director, Field Education may convene a meeting, or a series of meetings with the individuals involved. The final outcome of the meeting(s) will be recorded in a letter which will be sent to the student, the Field Instructor, and the Faculty Consultant. It will include the outcome of the meeting(s) and proposed action.

• In the event that the problem/concern cannot be resolved by the involved individuals, the placement setting and the school have the right to terminate the placement. For further clarification, please see the School of Social Work’s Student Handbook, Appeals Policy.

8.2 Terminating a Field Placement

• Except in rare and exceptional circumstances, a field placement cannot be terminated in the first month.
• After the first month, a field placement can only be terminated following an intervention by the Faculty Consultant and/or the Associate Director, Field Education, who will work with the student and the Field Instructor in an attempt to establish the conditions for a successful field placement.

Appendix A: Responsibilities of All Parties Involved

Placement Setting

The placement setting is responsible for providing an environment that will be conducive to a student’s growth and development as a professional social worker. Responsibilities include the following:

- To provide Field Instructors who have a BAA (Social Work); BSW; MSW; or qualifications and/or experiences considered to be the equivalent by the School of Social Work at Ryerson University.
- To provide the necessary time for the Field Instructor to carry out instructional duties.
- To provide the necessary time for Field Instructors to attend orientation meetings, workshops and seminars held for them by the school.
- To provide a learning atmosphere for the student including accepting them as a member of the placement setting and as a learning professional.
- To provide an environment that is safe and free from harassment or discrimination.
- To provide the necessary facilities so that the student may fulfil duties.
- To inform the student of the placement setting’s policies concerning police reference checks and other pre-placement requirements. Unless informed otherwise, students are informed that they are responsible for covering the cost for obtaining a police reference check.
- To provide the student with reimbursement for certain pre-determined and agreed to expenses incurred during field practice for placement related activities (e.g., travel, stamps, etc.). Students are responsible for their commute to and from placement.
- To provide orientation materials and opportunities, including safety materials or training.
- To notify the Field Education Office at the earliest possible indication that they will be unable to complete the responsibility of the placement for any reason (e.g., transfer, promotion, termination or illness of Field Instructor, unavailability of learning opportunities, etc.).
- To notify the Faculty Consultant immediately of any change in Field Instructor for any reason.
- To ensure that the social work Code of Ethics and Guidelines for Ethical Practice (CASW, 2005) are upheld by the student at all times.
- To uphold all school policies and procedures outlined in this manual as they relate to field education.
• To enter into an affiliation agreement with Ryerson University, highlighting roles and responsibilities, liabilities, etc.

Field Instructor

The role of the Field Instructor is the most important aspect of the student’s placement learning experience. Responsibilities include:

• To provide an adequate orientation to the placement setting, sufficient for the student to begin practice as soon as possible. This should include orientation to the mandate of the setting, its general policy and procedures (manuals where available), safety policies and procedures, its administrative structure, orientation to staff and to the client group and community served.

• To define and clarify for the student, the role of the Field Instructor in relation to the student, the placement setting, and to Ryerson.

• To provide face-to-face field instruction, at least 1.5 hours weekly for students. This time is to be set aside at regular intervals and is in addition to orientation to the placement setting.

• To provide additional time for conferences with the student as required for the student to adequately carry out the assigned tasks.

• To provide guidance and direction in assisting the student to perform the tasks required by the placement setting and to facilitate the integration, by the student, of the learning that is taking place in the placement through feedback, discussion, and a variety of field instruction techniques.

• To select appropriate cases, groups, or situations for assignment to the student in keeping with the curriculum expectations. It is required that students have direct contact with clients or communities within the first 3-4 weeks of commencement of the placement.

• To expose the student to diverse learning experiences (e.g., staff meetings, conferences, seminars, observations, placement setting visits, setting recordings, etc.).

• To provide a learning environment that is safe and free from harassment and discrimination.

• To notify the Faculty Consultant immediately if there is any indication that the placement setting will not be able to provide the appropriate learning opportunities for the student or if the Field Instructor will be unable to complete the responsibility of the placement for any reason (e.g., transfer, promotion, termination or illness).

• To notify the Faculty Consultant immediately of any change in Field Instructor for any reason.

• To meet with the Faculty Consultant as required to review the student’s progress.

• To recognize and respect the teaching/learning relationship between the student and their Faculty Consultant.
• To attend or arrange any meetings or conferences, in addition to the above routine visits, as may be necessary to resolve problems. These meetings should be arranged at the earliest sign of difficulty.

• To utilize the student evaluation as a measure of growth, both personal and professional, in ongoing field instruction with the student.

• To submit written evaluations of the student’s progress and potential at the end of each term; this written evaluation is to be shared with the student, and a copy given to her/him; the school will notify the Field Instructors each term, advising them of the due date for the evaluations.

• To attend the orientation meetings and appropriate seminars provided by the school (times and dates will be announced well in advance).

• To ensure that the social work Code of Ethics and Guidelines for Ethical Practice (CASW, 2005) are upheld by the student at all times.

• To uphold all school policies and procedures outlined in this manual as they relate to field education.

Faculty Consultant

Faculty Consultants are members of faculty who carry teaching, research and administrative responsibilities within the School of Social Work at Ryerson, along with their responsibilities as Faculty Consultant. In their capacity as Faculty Consultant, their responsibilities are:

• To be available for consultation with Field Instructors regarding the curriculum and placement expectations.

• To work with the Field Instructor to develop a placement compatible with the curriculum of the school, the needs of the student, and the mandate of the placement setting.

• To provide safety training for students entering the placement and to discuss safety concerns throughout the placement.

• To schedule and attend a field consultation visit with the Field Instructor and the student at the placement setting at least once, to discuss the student’s progress.

• To provide the necessary support to the Field Instructor and the student to facilitate the provision of learning experience as defined by the school curriculum.

• To ensure that social work students are being provided with a sufficient amount and adequate quality of field instruction.

• To maintain close liaison with Field Instructors supervising social work students from Ryerson and to be available for field consultation with the student and Field Instructor for the purpose of evaluating the student’s progress, difficulties and learning needs and goals as well as other goals outlined in the field consultation visit.
• To ensure that students are fully informed of their responsibility to uphold the social work Code of Ethics and Guidelines for Ethical Practice (CASW, 2005) at all times and to respond at the first indication that this is not happening.

• To take reasonable steps to ensure that student placements are safe and free from harassment and discrimination.

• To take reasonable steps to ensure that all school policies and procedures outlined in this manual are upheld by the placement setting, Field Instructor and student at all times.

• To attend or arrange any meetings or conferences that may be necessary to resolve problems (these meetings should be held at the earliest sign of difficulty).

• To ensure that written notification is given to a student when it appears that they may be asked to withdraw because of inadequate performance (this process should take place in consultation with the Associate Director, Field Education).

• To complete an early termination of placement form when applicable and submit to the Field Education Office.

• To assign the grade to the student at the end of the placement on receipt of the Field Instructor’s evaluation and all written requirements from the student.

Associate Director, Field Education

The Associate Director, Field Education holds the academic responsibility of interpreting School of Social Work and Ryerson University policies to all parties involved in the field education component of the social work program. Specific areas of responsibility and involvement are:

• To provide academic leadership to the Field Education Office, and to participate in the overall planning of field education in the school.

• To ensure strong pedagogical linkages between field practice activities and curriculum objectives in all years.

• To clarify the School of Social Work’s/Ryerson’s policies for Faculty Consultants, Field Instructors and students and to mediate any disputes among these parties.

• To be informed by faculty of any developing problems in field education related to Faculty Consultants, Field Instructors and students overall, or problems that are academic in nature.

• To make decisions about atypical placement requests that have academic implications (e.g., reduced placement hours).

• To coordinate and implement pedagogical responses (e.g., individual learning plans) for students experiencing extraordinary difficulty with field education credit.

• To provide orientation and other training to Faculty Consultants. To be available for Faculty Consultants to provide consultation and guidance in decisions related to field placements including the decision to remove a student from a field placement.
• To evaluate and make the final decision on challenge exam applications and to be available for consultation on the approval of other alternative field education placement applications.
• To provide orientation, training, and professional development workshops for Field Instructors.

Field Education Manager

The Field Education Manager is responsible for overseeing the overall operations of the Field Education Office to ensure efficiency and effectiveness.

• To manage the day-to-day operation of the Field Education Office, including supervision of all Field Education Office staff (including Field Education Coordinators, Field Education Program Administrator, Student Engagement Coordinator, and short term contract workers such as work study students).
• To engage in yearly strategic planning and sets the yearly workplan for the Field Education Office, in conjunction with the Field Education Office team.
• To coordinate or supervise the matching and placing of students in their practice settings, with particular focus on students in the Ryerson-FNTI collaborative BSW program and MSW students.
• To facilitate the development of accommodations for students in field placement in relation to access and equity.
• To facilitate legal contracts and other agreements as needed. To provide consultation on issues related to safety and liability in field placement.
• To support Field Instructors to take on the responsibilities of field instruction, including participation in workshops and consultations as needed.
• To develop, oversee, and evaluate, in conjunction with the Field Education Office staff and the Associate Director, Field Education, outreach strategies for the recruitment of new placement settings, including development of promotional materials.
• To support field education activities provided by the school for Faculty Consultants and students.
• To support the Associate Director, Field Education in most aspects of planning and development of policies and procedures, including evaluation and research related to field practicum and other appropriate areas.
• To represent the school in interactions with the public, private, not-for-profit, and voluntary sectors.
• To oversee all of the Field Education Office’s committees.
Field Education Coordinators

The Field Education Coordinators take responsibility for arranging and coordinating the field practicum component of field education program within the school. Responsibilities include:

- To be responsible for coordination and administration of field placement opportunities including consistency and quality of field placements and range of placement settings in consultation with the Field Education Manager.
- To develop new field placements for the school based on the curriculum design, student needs, and trends within the profession of social work and the community.
- To provide students with individual problem-solving support and accommodation(s) as required.
- To take reasonable steps to ensure that agencies/organizations provide student placements that are safe and free from harassment and discrimination.
- To take reasonable steps to ensure that field placement settings and Field Instructors uphold the social work Code of Ethics and Guidelines for Ethical Practice (CASW, 2005) as it relates to field practicum.
- To support field education activities provided by the school for all Field Instructors, Field Education Coordinators, Faculty Consultants and students.
- To prepare students for the process of selecting field placements, including the development of their resume and placement interviews.
- To design, coordinate and implement the process for the matching and placing of students in placement settings in consultation with the Field Education Manager.
- To facilitate the development of accommodations for students in field placement in relation to access and equity.
- To facilitate communication between placement settings and the school with respect to the development and maintenance of placements.
- To maintain an information system pertaining to field education in the school.
- To maintain, in conjunction with Faculty Consultants, the Associate Director, Field Education and the Field Education Manager, evaluation systems to ensure high quality field placement.
- Act as a liaison and facilitate relationships with and amongst students, community partners, faculty members, and Ryerson University.
- When required, works with students to facilitate the process of obtaining a police record check.
Field Education Program Administrator

The Field Education Program Administrator is a part of the school’s administration and is responsible for ensuring that students, staff, faculty and field partners have access to timely and accurate information and resources related to the field education component of the social work program at Ryerson University. The Program Administrator supports the overall smooth and effective functioning of the Field Education Office through developing and implementing a number of administrative activities. Responsibilities include:

• Provides technical support and training resources to students, staff and faculty in the use of a web-based application used by the Field Education Office to manage student and placement data.

• Liaises with field agencies and instructors to: obtain and provide information regarding placement opportunities available for students; share general information about the school’s field education program; and facilitates field partners’ access to Ryerson’s library services.

• Coordinates the logistical elements of field education workshops and appreciation events, including informing field partners of upcoming events and registering interested Field Instructors/Education Coordinators.

• Ensures that field partner mailing lists are kept current for use by the Field Education Office and Faculty Consultants.

• Updates and disseminates a variety of placement related forms to Faculty Consultants and assists in annual revisions to the school’s Field Education Manuals.

• Maintains currency with the Ministry of Advanced Education and Skills Development insurance program for students in unpaid placement and provides updated information to students, staff and faculty on related protocols and procedures.

• Circulates, gathers and files documentation related to student placement applications, placement opportunities and Field Education Office protocols and processes.

• Prepares a variety of reports and correspondence, including gathering statistical data, for use by the Field Education Office, School of Social Work and other internal departments.

• Maintains and monitors a database system for the Field Education Office, ensuring that current and accurate placement data is securely kept.

• Updates the field portion of the school’s website, ensuring students, field partners and faculty have access to field education forms and manuals, important dates, and contact information.

• Implements and maintains a multitude of internal office practices and procedures for the efficient recording and retrieval of information relative to the school’s field education program.
Social Work Student

Social work education makes a variety of demands on the student to develop both professionally and personally. Increased knowledge and skill must be accompanied by increased self and social awareness. The student carries the greatest responsibility for their learning and growth process. Students should approach the placement as being a professional learning commitment and opportunity. The following are specific responsibilities relating to placement learning.

Pre-placement Responsibilities

- To attend all required workshops and class visits. Refer to Section 3: Significant Dates for additional information.

- For on-campus students, to complete the process to request a placement via PlacePro by the deadline. This includes submitting a request to do any type of placement, whether it be to challenge SWP 36A/B Field Practicum or to do a regular Fall/Winter placement, a work study placement, a Spring/Summer block placement, or an out-of-country/province placement. Students have access to PlacePro for a limited time only. Refer to Section 3: Significant Dates for deadlines.

  Late requests to do any kind of placement will not be accepted, reviewed or considered. Students are required to check their Ryerson email regularly for information. Failure to enter all the required information in PlacePro by the deadline may disqualify a student from doing a placement.

- To be available for placement interviews between January and the commencement of the placement in the Fall term and maintain communication with the Field Education Office during this time.

- To ensure that the Field Education Office has a current telephone number and mailing address, including any summer changes, to facilitate the placing and interviewing process.

- To make every effort to actively participate and facilitate the placement process.

- To assume financial responsibility and provide the required documentation or health requisites set out by a placement setting (i.e., resume, references, medical reports, police record check, etc.).

- To disclose to the Field Education Coordinator any conflict of interest that may exist within the placement process. Refer to section 6.9 Professional Conduct for information about conflicts of interest.

- Maintain communication with the school and Field Education Office by checking their Ryerson email daily.
Beginning and Ongoing Placement Responsibilities

- To accept and operate within the policies and procedures of the placement setting and the mandate of social work.
- To ensure that dress code requirements are discussed with the Field Instructor or agency/organization’s representative and are upheld by the student.
- To demonstrate the willingness and enthusiasm of a learning team member and a beginning professional while in attendance at the placement setting.
- To attend orientation and/or training sessions as may be held by the placement setting.
- To meet the course requirements regarding minimum number of hours in field practice. Any time missed, regardless of cause, must be made up at the placement setting.
- To uphold the Social Work Code of Ethics and Guidelines for Ethical Practice (CASW, 2005) at all times.
- If unable to attend the placement setting due to illness, to notify the Field Instructor with as much advance notice as possible. If absent for more than two consecutive field practice days, the student is required to supply a medical certificate.
- To attend staff meetings, conferences or seminars as requested by the Field Instructor. If these conflict with classes, prior permission from the Ryerson class instructor must be obtained by the student. It is expected that the placement setting will exercise discretion in placing these demands on a student.
- To provide the placement setting with their current address, telephone number and email address.
- To complete and submit all reports and other assignments on time, as required by Ryerson University, the placement setting and the Field Instructor.
- To uphold the policies and procedures of the school outlined in this manual as they relate to field education.
- Students may not accept gifts from service users/communities of more than a nominal value. Students must seek advice from their Faculty Consultant when they are unsure of how to proceed.

Learning Responsibilities

- To undertake all mutually agreed upon tasks and responsibilities as assigned by the Field Instructor.
- To perform the above tasks and responsibilities at a degree of competence that is consistent with their educational level, with Ryerson guidelines and with placement setting requirements, as determined by the setting in consultation with the school.
- To view the teaching relationship with the Field Instructor as a learning experience, to come adequately prepared for all field instruction sessions, and to contribute as an active participant in this process.
• To be familiar with the ethics of social work and to incorporate these into their work in the field placement, including the Social Work Code of Ethics and Guidelines for Ethical Practice (CASW, 2005).

• To seek assistance from the Faculty Consultant at the onset of any problem/concern that cannot be mutually resolved with the Field Instructor.

• To inform the Associate Director, Field Education of any problems or concerns that cannot be resolved between the Field Instructor, Faculty Consultant, and student.
Appendix B: Canadian Association of Social Workers’ Code of Ethics

The complete Code of Ethics (2005) and Guidelines of Ethical Practice (2005) are available from the Canadian Association of Social Workers website.

Preamble

The social work profession is dedicated to the welfare and self-realization of all people; the development and disciplined use of scientific and professional knowledge; the development of resources and skills to meet individual, group, national, and international changing needs and aspirations; and the achievement of social justice for all. The profession has a particular interest in the needs and empowerment of people who are vulnerable, oppressed, and/or living in poverty. Social workers are committed to human rights as enshrined in Canadian law, as well as in international conventions on human rights created or supported by the United Nations.

As professionals in a country that upholds respect for diversity and in keeping with democratic rights and freedoms, social workers respect the distinct systems of beliefs and lifestyles of individuals, families, groups, communities and nations without prejudice (United Nations Centre for Human Rights. 1992). Specifically, social workers do not tolerate discrimination based on age, abilities, ethnic background, gender, language, marital status, national ancestry, political affiliation, race, religion, sexual orientation or socio-economic status.

Core Social Work Values

Social workers uphold the following core social work values:

Value 1: Respect for Inherent Dignity and Worth of Persons
Value 2: Pursuit of Social Justice
Value 3: Service to Humanity
Value 4: Integrity of Professional Practice
Value 5: Confidentiality in Professional Practice
Value 6: Competence in Professional Practice
Appendix C: Safety and Security in the Placement

The School of Social Work at Ryerson University is concerned with student safety and security in the placement. Because the activities of social work can involve a certain level of vulnerability, placement settings are responsible for ensuring that students receive an orientation of safety protocols, including fire procedures. In addition, students should be made aware of how to handle emergency situations in the absence of their Field Instructor, and during after-hours work. Students are not expected to enter into high risk situations in a placement setting. Moreover, placement settings which require high risk work have an increased responsibility for ensuring student safety.

Students with concerns about safety are advised to discuss these with their Field Instructor and Faculty Consultant. Students should not be alone in the placement setting either during working hours or after hours unless this has been discussed with the Faculty Consultant and appropriate training and backup is available.

Students who perceive themselves at risk, at any time, in any placement setting, are obliged to contact their Faculty Consultant, or the Associate Director, Field Education immediately.

There are four areas of risk to which students might be exposed in the field placement. These are:

- risk of physical injury related to travel to and from the field placement;
- risk of physical injury or illness, which may occur in the performance of assigned and prescribed duties during the course of the field placement;
- risk of a lawsuit for negligence in which students may be named by a community patron, a client with whom they are, or have been, engaged in their role as students;
- risk of a lawsuit for physical injury or property damage if students were to have passengers (such as other students or clients) in a personally owned auto involved in an accident resulting in bodily injury and/or property damage, while engaged in their field practice responsibility.

Ryerson’s policy with respect to these areas of risk is as follows.

Students Travelling to and from Field Placements

Students are responsible for their own safety when travelling to and from placement through either public or private transportation.
Injury/Illness to Student as a Result of Placement Related Activity

The Ministry of Colleges, Training and Universities (MTCU) provides Worker Safety & Insurance Board (WSIB) coverage for most students on unpaid placements who are placed with placement settings that are registered with the WSIB.

Private insurance coverage through Chubb Insurance is provided by MTCU for most students on unpaid training placement who are placed with placement settings that are not registered with the WSIB.

WSIB coverage for students that do not meet MTCU conditions is provided through the Ryerson WSIB plan. This means that in the event of a placement-related injury or illness, students are eligible for benefits from WSIB or equivalent benefits through the private insurance carrier. Some of these benefits might include: health care costs, rehabilitation costs, and in some cases, compensation for future lost earnings. The total cost of the WSIB/private insurance coverage is paid by MTCU or Ryerson.

In the event of a placement related injury or illness, the student and Field Instructor must notify their Faculty Consultant immediately to be apprised of the required procedure regardless of whether the student intends to make a claim or not. Appropriate documentation of any occurrence must be provided.

Lawsuit for Negligence

Ryerson has Third Party Insurance which would respond to a lawsuit against the University, its faculty, staff and students in the event of a claim against any of the above parties resulting from normal legal performance of duties and responsibilities associated with the academic activities of Ryerson.

Students Transporting Other Students or Clients in a Personally Owned Vehicle

In the event of an accident, the student could be considered responsible and their own insurance policy would be required to respond. If Ryerson was named in a lawsuit, its Non-Owned Auto Insurance would respond to protect Ryerson’s interest - not that of the student. Students should bear this in mind when deciding to use their own cars for placement purposes. Specifically, students must ensure that they have an appropriate level of insurance should they be responsible for transporting other individuals in the course of their placements.

Placement Setting/Patron Insurance

The placement setting should have Third Party Liability Insurance to protect themselves.
Appendix D:

Policy and Procedures for the Removal of Students from Field Placements on Grounds of Professional Misconduct

As in line with the Senate Policy 156: Removal of Students from Field Placements/Practicums, the School of Social Work at Ryerson University has listed below an outline of its procedures/policy in relation to the Policy stated above.

Preamble

The school has an obligation to protect the safety and well-being of the students, staff and faculty as well as the clients and staff of those agencies in which students carry out their field placements. The school has a responsibility to take appropriate action with respect to students in the program who have acted in an unethical or unprofessional manner.

This policy is subject to Ryerson University's Student Code of Academic Conduct and Student Code of Non-Academic Conduct as specified in the Ryerson University Calendar and on Ryerson University’s website.

Policy

The Director of the school may remove a student from field placement when there is reason to suspect that the student:

a. has behaved/performed in a manner which endangers students, clients, placement setting staff, faculty or others; or
b. has harassed/abused a student, client, placement setting staff, faculty, or others; or
c. is in violation of the Canadian Association of Social Workers’ Code of Ethics; or
d. has been convicted of, or has been charged with, a criminal offense involving violent or abusive behaviour.

Procedures

1. A faculty member, acting on their own judgment or on the advice of the placement setting/Field Instructor, may recommend, in writing, to the Director of the School of Social Work (with a copy to the student), the removal of a student from field placement under the circumstances outlined in the above policy. If the Director concurs, the student's removal will occur immediately, subject to the procedures set out below.
2. Within three working days of the faculty's recommendation, the Director will meet with the student to review the situation and to allow the student an opportunity to explain their conduct. The Director will then make a decision regarding the student's continuation in the field placement. The Director may decide that the student will:
   a. continue in the field placement with no restrictions; or
   b. continue in the field placement with appropriate restrictions; or
   c. be permanently removed from the field placement and that suspension from the program be recommended.

3. Written notification of the decision will be forwarded to the student, to the faculty member and, if necessary, to the Field Instructor, in the most expedient manner.

4. With reference to criminal offences, if charges are dropped, or the student acquitted of the offence, the student would be reinstated within the field placement.

5. Any student who has been restricted or permanently removed from the field placement has the right to request an Internal Review by a panel of three. The Internal Review Panel (the "Review Panel") will consist of:
   a. the Designate of the Director, who will chair the Review Panel;
   b. two members appointed by the Director.

The student has the right to express any conflict of interest with any member of the Review Panel to the Director of the School of Social Work.

A student may not remain in their field placement during the Internal Review. Students may continue with their class course work.

6. Any student requesting an Internal Review must notify the Director of this, in writing, within five working days of receipt of the Notice of Restriction or Removal from the field placement.

7. The Review Panel will meet and complete the review within 5 (five) working days immediately following the request being made by the student. This time may be extended by mutual consent of the student and the Chair of the Review Panel.

8. All members of the Review Panel are required to observe confidentiality regarding the discussions and recommendations.

9. The student has the right to meet with the Review Panel, to present relevant information, and to present submissions on their own behalf. The student may also be accompanied by one person of their choice who may act as agent.

10. Since this is an internal review, and since it is intended to keep matters as informal as possible, and since the right of appeal to a more formal tribunal is undisturbed, the use of legal counsel by either party is not permitted.

11. Within two working days of the conclusion of the review, the Review Panel will present a written decision, approved by all members of the panel, to the student and the Director. The written decision will be mailed (or emailed if agreed to by all parties).
12. A student who disagrees with the decision of the Review Panel, including the decision to recommend Disciplinary Suspension or Disciplinary Withdrawal, is entitled to appeal the decision under the Student Code of Academic Conduct.

13. Should the student be successful in the Internal Review and/or Appeal, they will be required to complete all field placement hours and/or course requirements. The Director, in consultation with the student, will determine when and how placement hours/assignments will be completed.
Appendix E: Human Rights Services

Human Rights Services at Ryerson University are available to all members of the Ryerson community including students, staff, faculty and visitors. This office administers human rights questions and complaints as well as Ryerson’s Discrimination and Harassment Prevention Policy. The policy applies to all Ryerson employees and students, as well as to visitors and contractors. Human Rights Services does not advocate for any individual or group. It advocates for fairness and for a community where the dignity and human rights of all its members are respected and upheld.

Ryerson University's Discrimination and Harassment Prevention Policy and Procedures is informed and guided by the Ontario Human Rights Code. This anti-discrimination policy is based on the Ontario Human Rights Code which provides that every person has the right to equal treatment without discrimination on the basis of: race, ancestry, place of origin, colour, ethnic origin, citizenship, creed, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression, age, record of offences, marital status, same-sex partnership status, family status, or disability.

An excerpt from the policy states: “Discriminatory and harassing behaviours are offensive, degrading and illegal. Every member of the Ryerson University Community is responsible for creating an environment which is free of discrimination and harassment. Individuals acting on their own and/or on behalf of the University and the University itself can be held responsible under this Policy and in law for discriminatory and harassing acts. Those found to have engaged in such conduct on the basis of a prohibited ground will be subject to discipline. Those found to have been harassed or discriminated against on the basis of a prohibited ground will be entitled to a remedy.”

All students are expected to have read the Ryerson Discrimination and Harassment Prevention Policy in its entirety.

Jurisdiction of the University: Any incident involving members of the Ryerson Community and having study or workplace repercussions may be considered within the University’s jurisdiction, whether or not it occurs on campus or during normally defined working hours.

Students engaged in field education have the same rights and responsibilities as any member of the Ryerson community.

Any student who feels they may be a victim of harassment or discrimination is encouraged to talk about their experience with someone who they trust and who can provide sound advice on what actions are available to the student so that the harassment and discrimination can be stopped. The Faculty Consultant, the Director and the Associate Directors of the school, and the Discrimination and Harassment Prevention Officer are all available to students who have harassment and discrimination concerns or questions. Faculty and/or staff will assess the situation and discuss the range of actions available to the student.

Students need to be aware that if they disclose information about possible discrimination or harassment of any kind to a faculty member or to an administrative staff person in the school, it is incumbent upon that person to take action. The specific action to be taken will be determined based on the nature of the complaint.

Ryerson’s Discrimination and Harassment Prevention Policy notes:

“It is the responsibility of the University to exercise its authority to prevent discrimination and harassment, to penalize the repetition of discrimination and harassment, and to respond promptly to known or apparent incidents of discrimination and harassment, whether or not a complaint has been filed.

By law, the University and its senior administrators such as chair, deans, Directors, vice-presidents, the president, and others with supervisory responsibility have a legal responsibility to respond promptly to known or apparent incidents of discrimination and harassment, whether or not a complaint has been filed and to exercise authority to prevent and/or penalize the repetition of such behaviour.

Where it is found that a senior administrator or others with supervisory responsibility knew of an incident of discrimination or harassment and did not take any action to stop the behaviour, that senior administrator may be subject to penalties and remedies under this Policy and under the law.”

Faculty members and/or administrative staff in the School of Social Work will consult with the Associate Director, Field Education, and/or the Ryerson Discrimination and Harassment Prevention Officer in the event of any disclosure of possible discrimination and harassment, to seek advice on how to proceed.
Appendix F: Social Media Policy

The School of Social Work at Ryerson University is committed to affirming human rights, equity and dignity among all people. As such, the School of Social Work values and respects the freedom of expression and academic freedom. The use of social media and technology has become a means of advancing social justice and social work education. The use of social media and technology can, however, present distinctive challenges, especially as it relates to the privacy and confidentiality of social service users. We believe it is imperative to provide guidelines and a framework to make informed decisions to the Ryerson Social Work community, including students, staff, and faculty, regarding the use of technology, social media, and other forms of electronic communication. The purpose of these guidelines is to maintain a respectful learning environment.

The Canadian Association for Social Work Education (CASWE) Accreditation Standards (2012) state: “The academic unit has a policy regarding ethical use of all forms of social media to ensure the privacy, confidentiality, and interests of the academic unit and its field practicum community and demonstrates how the policy and procedures are consistent with the relevant human rights legislation, with the mission of CASWE-ACFTS, and with the mission of the academic unit concerned.”

The CASW Code of Ethics (2005) outlines the core social work values as:

- Respect for the inherent dignity and worth of persons
- Pursuit of social justice
- Service to humanity
- Integrity of professional practice
- Confidentiality of professional practice
- Competence of professional practice

School of Social Work Social Media Policy

The School of Social Work values both academic freedom and freedom of expression and encourages these as fundamental aspects of a university education whether expressed in oral communication, print, or electronically. We recognize the importance of technology and social media and support the use of these communication tools among social workers.

Examples of common social media outlets include; Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, Instagram, Snapchat, online blogs, YouTube videos, and so on. Members of the Ryerson Social Work community, including Faculty, Staff and Students, are responsible and accountable for their actions and statements on all social media platforms.
Guidelines for the Use of Social Media

- Any information posted on social media platforms should be considered public documents and the parameters of privacy and confidentiality should be carefully maintained.

- Members of the School of Social Work community should refrain from disclosing any confidential or identifying information about the School of Social Work, staff and students, or any affiliated placement organizations unless permission is obtained.

- Members of the Ryerson Social Work community must identify that the views expressed on social media platforms are those of the author/writer and not those of the School of Social Work or placement settings, unless authorized to do so.

- Unless given permission by the School of Social Work or a Field Instructor, students are not authorized to speak on behalf of the School or their practicum agency.

- Uploading photographs of clients, classmates, peers, members of the Social Work community, without consent is a breach of privacy and confidentiality.

- Any discussions or conversations held in the classroom should be considered confidential and should not be disclosed via social media. This includes any discussions within peers, students and instructors, and any other personal information disclosed within the classroom setting, unless authorized to do so.

- Any discussions that take place outside of the classroom between students and instructors should also be considered confidential and should not be shared via social media without prior authorization.

- Notes, electronic documents, lectures, and other course related content should not be posted on social media platforms unless authorized by the instructor to do so, to avoid breaking copyright rules and regulations.

- Students must make themselves aware of and follow practicum agency policies regarding the use of electronic technologies and social media platforms.

- Students should discuss the use of electronic devices technologies for personal and placement reasons with their field instructor at the start of each field placement.

- Any discussions, activities or conversations with service users, communities, or field placement agencies should be considered confidential and should not be posted to social media platforms without prior authorization.

- In addition to following the confidentiality guidelines outlined by the School of Social Work and the CASW (2005) Code of Ethics, students are required to follow confidentiality and disclosure guidelines outlined by their respective field placement settings.

For further information regarding Ryerson University’s perspective on the use of Social Media, please refer to the University Relations website.
Appendix G: Labour Disputes

The School of Social Work at Ryerson has a long history of being positively involved in the labour movement. We support student learning regarding labour relations in social service agencies.

The Ryerson University Affiliation Agreement stipulates that a practicum centre has the right to terminate the placement of any student due to circumstances beyond their control, such as a labour disruption. Once the labour disruption has ended, it is expected they will permit the student to return as soon as possible to complete the placement.

In the event of a legal strike within a placement setting, where it has been determined that students may remain in the placement during the disruption, the student is then given the following choices by the school:

a. Terminate the placement and be placed in a new placement setting.

b. Stay home from placement until the strike action is over and make up their hours after the strike.

c. Participate with their Field Instructor on the picket line for a limited period of time. In this case, the student would be given credit for a few of the hours they have spent on the picket line as picket duty is a valid learning experience for a social work student.

d. Cross the picket line to complete non-direct practice activities such as case notes. Students cannot see clients without their Field Instructor’s supervision and, if the Field Instructor is on strike, that supervision is not available. For obvious reasons, students almost never choose to cross the picket line if their Field Instructor is on strike.
Appendix H: Learning Plans

Purpose

The purpose of developing a learning plan for the placement is to identify the major learning goals the student needs to accomplish during the placement experience. These learning goals should come from an understanding of self, and the skills, values, and knowledge developed to the present time. Therefore, learning goals can be made for the further expansion of skills (e.g., assessment); values (e.g., awareness of value conflicts); and knowledge (e.g., concepts that can be readily applied to various practice problems).

The learning plan is a placement exercise, in that it is to be negotiated between the student and the Field Instructor in consultation with the Faculty Consultant. It is a mutual task and should be agreed upon when both parties in the process have shared their pertinent thinking about what must be included in the plan. It is the responsibility of the student to write the plan. The Field Instructor should be involved in a process which includes discussion and feedback regarding the plan. The student submits the learning plan to their Faculty Consultant for final approval.

Format for Third Year Placement Learning Plan

The learning plan is developed within the context of the goals and objectives of the placement curriculum and the learning opportunities provided within the placement setting. Faculty Consultants provide a format for the learning plan to both Field Instructors and students. The learning plan is to include:

- a description of learning opportunities within the placement setting;
- students' professional strengths;
- goals as specified within the placement curriculum;
- knowledge objectives;
- skill objectives;
- activities to accomplish objectives.

Please visit the School of Social Work’s website to view and download Learning Plans.

Format for Fourth Year Placement Learning Plan

It is expected that at the commencement of fourth year, students can identify their professional learning strengths and goals. Building on the learning of the third year placement, students develop a learning plan in consultation with the Field Instructor.

The learning plan is to include:
• student learning outcomes to-date;
• function of social work within the placement setting;
• knowledge development;
• practice/skill development;
• learning opportunities within the placement;
• involvement in social justice and anti-oppression social work;
• required learning resources;
• ethical considerations;
• method(s) of field instruction;
• time accountability;
• agreed upon structure of field instruction.

Please visit the School of Social Work’s website to view and download Learning Plans.
Appendix I: George F. Bielmeier Award for Outstanding Contribution within the Field Practicum

The award is given in recognition of a third and a fourth year student, full-time or part-time within the program, who have made an outstanding contribution within the field practicum, exceeding curriculum expectations. Nominations for the award must be supported by both the Field Instructor and the Faculty Consultant.

Visit the Registrar's Office website for more information.
Appendix J: Placement Attendance during Inclement Weather

On days when Ryerson University is closed due to inclement weather, students are not expected to attend their placement and should communicate their impending absence to their Field Instructor as early as possible. Should a student choose to attend placement on a day when the University is closed, they should first check that the placement site is open and follow any specific protocols from the site. Students should exercise increased caution when travelling to and from placement and during the course of the day while carrying out placement activities.

Note that students are responsible for meeting the course requirements regarding minimum number of hours in field practice. Any time missed, regardless of cause, must be made up at the placement setting.

If students have questions or concerns about attending placement during a day Ryerson is closed, they should first consult their Faculty Consultant. Should they have any further questions or inquiries, they should contact the Associate Director, Field Education.
