Ryerson Urban Farm

Producing food that is spray-free, non-GMO and ecologically-grown.

Ryerson Urban Farm

Ryerson Urban Farm (RUF) produce is spray-free, non-GMO and ecologically-grown. We operate productive growing spaces across the Ryerson University, incorporating educational programming for our surrounding community on campus and beyond.

Our main production space, a quarter-acre rooftop farm, is located on the Andrew and Valerie Pringle Environmental Green Roof above the George Vari Engineering and Computing Centre at the corner of Church Street and Gould Street. The original green roof was built in 2004 and converted to an ecological market garden in 2013 by the Ryerson Urban Farm, which grew out of a student-led initiative to grow fresh food on campus. Now, the Ryerson Urban Farm produces roughly 10,000 pounds of produce annually, distributed between Ryerson Eats, the Gould Street Farmers' Market, our Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) Program, and select restaurants and grocers. This innovative project demonstrates the potential for green roofs to produce food, as well as contribute to the health and well-being of our community and the environment.

Ryerson's Urban Farm is managed by Arlene Throness. Passionate about growing, sharing and enjoying food, Arlene studied Urban Agriculture at Ryerson's Chang School. She holds a Bachelor of Arts from Concordia University and has a certificate in Permaculture Design from Linnaea Farm on Cortes Island, BC. Arlene is in her ninth season growing food and has an additional eight years experience in landscaping and silviculture. Prior to Ryerson, Arlene was the coordinator of Concordia University's Rooftop Greenhouse and a founder of its City Farm School. Arlene is one of three recipients of the Toronto Botanical Garden's 2015 Aster Awards, given to individuals who embody the mission to transform our city by connecting people to plants and the natural world. As an avid enthusiast of urban permaculture, Arlene is always looking to share and trade ideas within the community to find new and innovative ways to design landscapes, repurpose materials, and incorporate local resources into the food cycle.
